C
Y12.U
1882.Q3

CLASS OF 1882

· YALE ·

THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS
LIBRARY

Presented by President Kinley

C
Y12U
1882Q3

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2012 with funding from University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign

http://archive.org/details/vicennialrecordc1882yale

VICENNIAL RECORD

CLASS OF 1882

YALE

THE LIBRARY OF THE
JUN 18 1930
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

Printed for the Class

THE WINTHROP PRESS
NEW YORK

C
Y12u
188203

X 31 30 Hughes

PREFACE

It is with much misgiving that this—the Vicennial record of '82—is presented to the class. The compiler is aware of its shortcomings and he especially regrets the lack of the personal element. The men have been overmodest and have refrained from giving details and incidents connected with their lives which would have added to the interest and value of the record.

Twenty years out of college! The class almost to a man is settled and hard at work. Encouraging if not brilliant success has attended most. If there are few shining lights the average is good.

Linked with the pleasure in recording the honors is the sorrow in noting the death of nine who since Sexennial have been taken from us, and in this record an asterisk has been placed before their names. Among the fourteen whom we have lost from the living members of our class are some who would surely have attained great honor and the recording of their death has been a sad task.

New York. January, 1903.

726719

1902-1907

PRESIDENT

HOWARD HOYT KNAPP

1094 Main Street, Bridgeport, Conn.

Committees: (with president ex-officio a member of each)

CLASS DINNERS AND 25TH REUNION

WILLIAM HENRY PARSONS, JR.
CHESTER WOLCOTT LYMAN
JOHN PRESCOTT KELLOGG
WILLIAM SCRANTON PARDEE

CLASS BOOK AND RECORDS

EDWIN LYNDE DILLINGHAM
JAMES QUACKENBUSH RICE
JOSIAH CULBERT PALMER

CLASS FINANCE

ARCHIBALD ASHLEY WELCH
WILLIAM PHELPS ENO
FRANCIS COOLEY FARWELL

Secretary

Arthur Sherwood Osborne

P. O. BOX No. 164

New Haven, Conn.

VICENNIAL MEETING

Tuesday, June 24th, 1902.

Thirty-one members of the class attended the business meeting which was held at F1 Osborn, at 11.30 a. m. Parsons called the meeting to order and it was moved, seconded and carried, that Badger act as chairman. He thereupon took the chair. In the absence of the secretary, Palmer was elected secretary pro tem. It was moved by Parsons that there be elected at this and each succeeding meeting one to serve as president of the class who shall preside at all meetings of the class, appoint committees and act with the secretary in furthering the interests of the class. The motion being duly seconded and carried, Knapp was put in nomination and unanimously elected. He then took the chair and on motion of Badger, the thanks of the class were unanimously extended to Osborne, the class secretary, for his many services to the class. Parsons then moved that the president appoint the following committees:

1st. Class Book.
2d. Class Dinners in New Haven and elsewhere.
3d. Class Finance.

The motion was seconded and carried.

In the afternoon the class attended the Yale-Harvard base ball game, accompanied by the Waterbury Military Band, and upon their return the class picture was taken from the steps of the Library.

The class dinner was held at the Anderson Gymnasium on York street, at 7 p. m., forty-one members and three non-graduates being present. It was served by Maresi of New York.

Platt acted as toastmaster; there were no regular toasts responded to but impromptu speeches were made by many of the men present all resounding with the praise of Yale and '82. The Waterbury Military Band was in attendance and the speeches were interspersed with songs and music. During the dinner Knapp announced the committees which he had appointed in accordance with Parsons' resolution—the following (with the president ex-officio, a member of each committee) to serve from 1902-1907:

Dinners and 25th Reunion—Parsons, Lyman, J. P. Kellogg, Pardee.
Class Book—Dillingham, Rice, Palmer.
Finance—Welch, Eno, Farwell.

There were present at the dinner the following:

Allen, J. F.	Bate.	Brinton.
Allen, M. S.	Bates.	Bronson.
Atterbury.	Bentley.	Dillingham.
Badger.	Billings.	Eno.

Farwell.
Foote.
Graves, G. H.
Griggs, C. M.
Haskell.
Hawkes.
Hopkins.
Jefferds.
Kellogg, J. P.
Kingman.
Knapp.
Loomis.
Lyman.
McBride.
Moodey.
Osborne.
Palmer.
Pardee.
Parsons.
Pember.
Pierce.
Platt.
Rice.
Richardson.
Schuyler.
Shoemaker.
Snell.
Stillman.
Sweetser.
Welch.
Wells.
Williams.

BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD

Frank Frost Abbot after graduation continued in New Haven as a graduate student on the Clark and Larned scholarships for two years. In the autumn of 1884 he went to Washington as a private tutor, but returned to New Haven in the following autumn to accept a tutorship in Latin. This position he held until June, 1891, with the exception of one year (winter of 1888-9 to autumn of 1890) which was spent abroad mainly in study at Berlin and Bonn. In September, 1891, he went to Chicago and spent a year in helping President Harper organize the University, which opened in October, 1892. During that time he was the only member of the faculty there except the President. His health was somewhat impaired by the strain of the first few years, and he spent 1894-5 in Colorado. He resumed work in the summer of 1895 and with the exception of the year spent in Rome has been actively engaged since that time as Professor of Latin in the University of Chicago. He is the author of Selected Letters of Cicero in the College Series of Latin Authors: Ginn & Co., 1897, and of Roman Political Institutions: Ginn & Co., 1901. He has also contributed to many of the educational magazines. During the year 1901-2 he was appointed the Annual Professor of Latin in the School of Classical Studies at Rome and he spent the year in Rome carrying on that work. He married Miss Jane Harrison at New Haven, June 21st, 1888.

Address—The Quadrangle Club, Chicago, Ill.

James Ferguson Allen was for some time connected with the Meriden Bronze Co. In 1886 he went to Montana, and engaged in ranching near Musselshell, Meagher County, for some years being a partner in the firm of Allen & Schuyler. Later he returned east and resumed his connection with the Meriden Bronze Co., at Meriden, Conn., retaining his interest in the ranching business which was managed by his partner. He is at the present time President of the Meriden Gravure Co. He married Miss Cornelia Parker Breese, at Meriden, Conn., November 2d, 1893, and has two children: Parker Breese, born October 31st, 1895, and Theodore Ferguson, born October 29th, 1897.

Address—Meriden, Conn.

Martin Smith Allen since graduation has been a member of the firm of William L. Allen & Co., Commission Merchants, 19 Jay Street, New York. Just prior to entering into active business, he traveled through the Holy Land, Italy and Turkey, and since then has taken a trip through Norway, Sweden and Russia. His home is in Brooklyn: 52 South Oxford Street. He is unmarried.

Address—19 Jay Street, New York.

Albert Hoffman Atterbury studied in the Columbia Law School, and received the degree of LL.B. in June, 1884. He was admitted to the New York bar in November, 1884, and is a member of the firm of Leavitt, Wood and Keith, Counsellors at Law, 111 Broadway, New York. He married Miss Emma H. Baker, at East Orange, N. J., November 17th, 1892.

Address—315 West Seventh Street, Plainfield, N. J.

Walter Irving Badger, on the 21st of September, 1882, entered the office of Solomon Lincoln for the purpose of studying law. In the following month of October he registered at the Boston University Law School, from which university he was graduated in June, 1885, receiving the degree of LL. B. cum laude. He then spent three months in Europe, and upon his return was admitted to the bar in Massachusetts.

Since 1882 he has been associated with Mr. Lincoln, and in August, 1896, was made a partner. During the last fifteen years he has been very much engaged in the trial of tort cases in behalf of railroads and other corporations. He was for several years President of the Everett National Bank of Boston. He married Miss Elizabeth Hand Wilcox, at New Haven, Conn., October 6th, 1887, and has two children: Walter Irving, Jr., born September 16th, 1891; Grace Ansley, born July 13th, 1893.

Address—126 Brattle Street, Cambridge, Mass.

William Elder Bailey is in the iron business at Harrisburgh, Pa. He is Treasurer of the Charles L. Bailey & Co., incorporated, and Secretary of the Central Iron Works. [From the Sexennial Record.]†

Harry Rudolph Baltz was abroad for a year and a half. After his return he studied law in the office of George W. Biddle, in Philadelphia, and was admitted to the bar, May 1st, 1886, but was soon compelled to give up practice on account of weakness of the eyes. Since 1886 he has been engaged in the manufacturing business, in Philadelphia. He married Miss Mary Hart Welling, at New York, April 23d, 1901.

Address—1813 Pine Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Erwin Hinckley Barbour, on commencement day, was appointed an Assistant Paleontologist in the U. S. Geological Survey, being located at Peabody Museum, New Haven. This position was held until 1888. In June, 1887, he received the degree of Ph.D. from Yale. In June, 1889, he was called to Iowa College, to the Stone professorship of Natural History and Geology, a position held until July 1st, 1891, when he was called to the professorship of Geology in the State University of Nebraska, at Lincoln. He was appointed Acting State Geologist by Governor Thayer in the fall of 1891, and successively reappointed by Governors Crounse and Boyd; appointed Curator of the State Museum, spring of 1892, and Geologist of the State Board of Agriculture, February, 1893; permanently appointed Acting State Geologist by the Legislature, February, 1893; in 1894 appointed a member of U. S. Agricultural Experiment Station staff.

† No response to repeated communications asking for information.

He is a member of several scientific societies, among which may be mentioned the Microscopical Club, Nebraska Academy of Science, The Ornithologists' Union, The American Association for the Advancement of Science, and he has a life membership in the Geological Society of America. In addition to scientific papers, he has contributed cartoons, drawings and articles for various newspapers and magazines, including "Texas Siftings," "Photographic Times," "Outing," "St. Nicholas," "Scribner's," "Rural New Yorker," etc. He married Miss Margaret Roxanna Lamson, of New Haven (daughter of Wm. Lamson, Yale, '56), December 6th, 1887, and has a daughter, Eleanor, born February 22d, 1889.

Address—University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb.

Floyd Julius Bartlett was Vice-Principal of a school at Warsaw, N. Y., from 1882 to 1886; Principal at Fairport, N. Y., from 1886 to 1891; Head of the Department of Latin and Greek at the State Normal College, Albany, N. Y., from 1891 to 1896. He is now Principal of the Academic High School at Auburn, N. Y., which position he has held since 1896. He married Miss Mary Kate Hayward, at Warsaw, N. Y., December 25th, 1883. They have had five children, of whom three are living: Ruth Hayward, born in 1884; Loyd Hayward, born in 1888, and Robert Milne, in 1892.

Address—Auburn, N. Y.

Mortimer Stratton Bate was in the warehousing business, in Brooklyn, until September 1st, 1886. After that date he became salesman for West & Melchers, Rice Merchants, 126 Front Street, New York. July 1st, 1888, he became a member of that firm. In April, 1888, he and three others organized "The Continental Press" for the purpose of carrying on a stereotype-plate business at 194 Water Street, New York. He, with his partner, in 1891, organized the Consolidated Rice Co., of New Orleans, since sold out. In 1895 the firm of West & Melchers, Rice and Coffee Merchants, of which he had been a member for nine years, was dissolved, and the firm of Melchers & Bate was formed. The latter firm was three years later dissolved, and now he conducts alone a commission house in sugar, rice, molasses, etc. He married Miss Irene Sharp, of Brooklyn, December, 7th, 1887. They have one son: Rutledge, born February 2d, 1891.

Address—100 Wall Street, New York.

Robert Parker Bates studied law in Chicago, and was admitted to practice March 7th, 1883, being the first member of the class to enter a profession. He practiced in Chicago in partnership with Page, until the fall of 1885, when he was compelled to go south on account of his health. He lived in Florida for a year and, as he says, " practiced law and a good many other things." He returned to the north in September, 1886, and for several years practiced law in Chicago as a member of the firm of Mason, Ennis & Bates, 79 Dearborn Street. He is at present alone, with offices at 120 Randolph Street. He married Miss Minnie L. Couch, of Gaylordsville, Conn., September 21st, 1886, and has two children, Alice Melissa, born September 12th, 1887, and Winifred, born July 14th, 1889.

Address—120 Randolph Street, Chicago.

Morgan Hawley Beach studied law in the University of Virginia, and received the degree of B.L. in June, 1884. He was admitted to the bar September, 1884, but owing to ill health did not begin active practice until January, 1885, when he opened an office on Washington Street, Alexandria, Va. January 1st, 1886, he became a member of the firm of Beach & Page, Washington, D. C., still retaining his office in Alexandria. His offices are now in the Fendall Building, 344 D Street N. W. He married Miss Elizabeth Grayson Carter, at Oaklands, Va., December 25th, 1893. They have three daughters, Katherine Elizabeth, born April, 1895; Grace Carter, born September, 1896, and Elizabeth Morgan, born May, 1898.

Address—344 D Street N. W., Washington, D. C.

John Fred Beede was at his home in Meredith Village, N. H., for several months after graduation, and in the following winter went into a bank in Boston. He remained there nearly a year, and was then for some months in a bank in New York City. In July, 1884, he entered the Marine Bank, in Buffalo, where he held the position of receiving teller. In 1885, owing to the ill health of his father, he returned to Meredith Village, and at his father's death he was obliged to assume the management of his business, which was a general merchandise store. He is also Treasurer of a hosiery manufacturing company, at Laconia, N. H., where he spends a portion of his time, but continues to reside at his old home in Meredith. He was married April 15th, 1901, to Miss Martha B. Melcher, of Laconia, N. H.

Address—Meredith, N. H.

Samuel Bennett, Jr., was for some time after graduation engaged in farming, at Richmond, Ky. He was Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue from 1889 to 1893, Cashier L. & N. Railroad from 1894 to 1895 and is now Corporation Clerk in office of State Auditor, Frankfort, Ky. He married Miss Mary Winston Warfield, at Lexington, Ky., February 18th, 1886. Children: Benjamin Warfield, born December 6th, 1886;

Waller, December 13th, 1888; Sara McChesney, March 6th, 1890; Susan Anne, May 15th, 1892; Samuel, Jr., March 10th, 1895 (died, 1900); William Dudley, July 9th, 1896.

Address—Frankfort, Ky.

Cyrus Bently studied law and received the degree of LL.B. at the N. W. University. He has since practiced in Chicago, with offices in Borden Block. He married Miss Elizabeth King, at Chicago, January 8th, 1889. They have two children, Margaret, born August 28th, 1892, and Richard, born June 5th, 1894.

Address—35 Borden Block, Chicago, Ill.

Charles Kingsbury Billings was traveling part of the time and was engaged in no regular occupation the first two years after graduation. He married Miss Mary Elizabeth Alden, of New Haven, March 27th, 1884. In the fall of the same year he entered the Yale Law School, from which he was graduated in June, 1886. A year later he took a special course in electricity in the Sheffield Scientific School. Since his marriage he has made his home in New Haven, but has not been in active business. He has six children: Charles Kingsbury, Jr., born November 21st, 1885; Margaret Louise, November 10th, 1886; Mabel Frances, May 3d, 1888; Julia Holmes, January 17th, 1890; Mary Elizabeth, February 7th, 1892; John Alden, October 11th, 1898.

Address—67 Trumbull Street, New Haven, Conn.

Charles Edward Blumley taught in the Free Academy, at Norwich, Conn., for four years. He also studied law and was admitted to practice in September, 1884. Since July 1st, 1886, he has been actively engaged in the practice of his profession in Norwich. [From the Sexennial Record.]†

George Shepard Boltwood was for one year an Assistant on the U. S. Geological Survey, and was employed in the Peabody Museum. The following year he entered the Yale Law School. He received the degree of LL.B., and was admitted to the bar in June, 1885. He removed to Grand Rapids, Mich., in November, 1885, and is now senior member of the firm of Boltwood & Boltwood, Attorneys at Law. He is a Trustee of the Park Congregational Church, of Grand Rapids, and was President of the Board of Trustees from 1899 to 1901. He was President of Western Michigan Congregational Club in 1900 and 1901. He married Miss Mary Gernon Rice, at Grand Rapids, Mich., September 1st, 1891. They have one daughter, Ruth Gernon, born April 15th, 1894.

Address—601-607 Michigan Trust Co. Building, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Benjamin Brewster, after graduation, spent a few months in New Haven pursuing a graduate course in ethics and philosophy, under President Porter. In

† No response to repeated communications asking for information.

January, 1883, he accepted a position as instructor in Mr. Bridgeman's Preparatory School, in Cleveland, Ohio, which he held for six months. Having decided to study for the ministry, he entered, in the fall of 1883, the General Theological Seminary of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in New York, where he was graduated at the head of his class in June, 1886, and immediately ordained. Through the never-to-be-forgotten kindness of his classmate, since deceased, James A. Campbell, he traveled abroad for four months, visiting Great Britain, France, Germany, Switzerland and North Italy. Returning to New York, he accepted a position as Assistant Minister in Calvary Parish, November, 1886, and remained in this parish five years, being in charge of Calvary Chapel, on East Twenty-third Street, during the last four years of that period. June 10th, 1891, he married Miss Stella Yates, a cousin of his rector, Dr. Satterlee. In November, 1891, he accepted a call to the rectorship of the Church of the Holy Communion, South Orange, N. J., where he continued for four years.

Being run down, and showing some tendencies toward lung trouble, by the advice of physicians, he went to Colorado, in November, 1895, accepting the rectorship of Grace Church, Colorado Springs, which position he now holds. He has completely recovered his health, is able to do better and harder work than ever before, and is very happy in his Colorado life. He writes: "It is pleasant, if sad, to hear on every side in Colorado Springs of the love and respect entertained for our talented, honored and beloved classmate, the late Ernest Whitney." He has two children: Katrina Mynderse, born May 10th, 1894, and Benjamin Yates, born December 28th, 1897.

Address—329 North Nevada Avenue, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Ferree Brinton was abroad for six months after graduation and upon his return entered the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania. He was graduated in June, 1885, receiving the degree of LL.B. and the prize for the best final examination and was admitted to the bar a month later. While a student he was in the office of E. Coppee Mitchell, the Dean of the Law School. He remained with Mr. Mitchell until the latter's death in the early part of 1886, and for several years afterwards practiced law on his own account in the same office, 518 Walnut Street, Philadelphia. For the past eleven years he has been associated with P. O. Rothermel, Jr., having general charge of that gentleman's large and diversified practice of a desirable kind. He married Miss Lina S. Ives (daughter of Dr. Robt. S. Ives, Yale, '56), at New Haven, April 25th, 1893. They have three children: Anna Binney, born January 21st, 1896; Caroline Ives, born March 25th, 1898, and Ferree, Jr., born August 9th, 1900.

Address—804 Land Title Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

Fred John Brockway taught for two years at the King School, Stamford, Conn. In the fall of 1884 he entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, graduating in 1887, near the head of his class, and holding the office of Class President. He then entered the Roosevelt Hospital, on the surgical service, and there remained until May, 1889, when he removed to Baltimore to take the position of first Resident Surgeon of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, then newly opened. There he remained until the fall of 1890. Shortly after, he returned to New York to take up the practice of medicine, in which he continued up to his death. He died on the 21st of April, 1901, of meningitis, at Brattleboro, Vt. For ten years he held the position of Assistant Demonstrator of Anatomy in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and at the time of his death he was Secretary of the Faculty. On November 25th, 1891, he married Miss Marian L. Turner, of Mt. Savage, Md. Two daughters were born to him: Marian, born May 13th, 1896, and Dorothy, born February 27th, 1898. He was a member of the American Museum of Natural History, New York Academy of Sciences, the New York Academy of Medicine, the Alumni Association of Roosevelt Hospital, the Johns Hopkins Residents' Association, American Association of Anatomists, Omega Society of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, the New England Society and the New York Athletic Club. He was the author of several Monographs on Anatomical Subjects.

He was quiet in manner, thoughtful and conscientious in all his conduct. Enthusiastically devoted to his professional work, he found little time for recreation, yet his sense of humor was such that he made a most congenial companion and was greatly beloved and respected by all who knew him.

Nathaniel Richardson Bronson was graduated from the Yale Law School with the degree of LL.B. in June, 1884. He has since practiced his profession in Waterbury; for a number of years being a member of the firm of Terry & Bronson, and since January, 1901, the senior member of the firm of Bronson & Minor. He was Clerk of the City Court of Waterbury from May 1st, 1895, to March 1st, 1896, and for a number of years Prosecuting Attorney, District Court of Waterbury. He married Miss Helen Adams Norton, at Brooklyn, N. Y., March 26th, 1889, and has two children, Norton, born February 28th, 1894, and Richardson, born October 12th, 1896.

Address—144 Bank Street, Waterbury, Conn.

Wayland Irving Bruce was connected with the Bryant Literary Union of New York City the first year after graduation. He married Miss Mary Emily Skinner, at New Haven, April 3d, 1883. The following year he traveled and studied in Europe. During the year 1884-5 he taught in the Albany Academy, at Albany N. Y. Since 1885 he has taught at Williston Seminary, Easthampton, Mass. He has a son, Donald Bruce, born at Newtonville, Mass., July 23d, 1884. He received the degree of M.A. from Yale in 1888.

Address—Easthampton, Mass.

James Alexander Campbell after graduation remained a year taking a post graduate course, and then went abroad, visiting Norway, Sweden, Russia, Turkey, Greece, Spain, Palestine and Egypt. In 1885 he returned to America and entered the Harvard Law School, where he remained for three years completing his course and graduating with honor. Both of his parents having died (his mother during commencement week) he with his brothers returned to Europe, and selected as a temporary residence a beautiful home at No. 21 Place Vendome, Paris, where he lived until his death, with the exception of a short visit to London. His time was occupied in visiting the art galleries and other places of interest in Paris and in the study of architecture.

He was taken with a slight cold, which he thought too trivial to require attention, but which resulted in a serious attack of la grippe and in an illness which, at the end of seven months, ended fatally, although attended by the best medical talent of England and France. Notwithstanding this long illness with all its pain, he maintained throughout the utmost patience and bravery, and forgetting himself endeavored to do for those about him. He died July 13th, 1890. The burial service was read by the clergyman of the British Embassy Chapel, and his remains, after resting temporarily in the vault of the chapel, were conveyed finally to St. Louis, his old home. He was never married.

His life was conspicuous for its modesty, its tenderness and gentleness, for its chivalry and integrity; indeed, for all that makes up the true gentleman. Princely generosity, a sympathetic heart, unaffected modesty, painstaking consideration for the feelings of others, loyalty to truth, and self-sacrificing fidelity to hard duties—these were some of the characteristics that won for him our love and our respect.

David Anderson Chenault was for two years a member of the firm of Isaac Brinker & Co., Commission Merchants and Wholesale Fruit and Produce Dealers, at Denver, Colo. He was afterwards at his home, at White Hall, Ky., for a year, engaged in farming, and for three years was in the live stock business, together with farming, at De Graff, Kansas. He returned to Kentucky in 1891 and established the University School of Kentucky, at Louisville, of which institution he has since been President. He married Miss Bettie Baker Bronston, July 17th, 1883, at Richmond, Ky., and has two children, Nettie Bronston, born December 12th, 1884, and Walter Scott, born July 22d, 1888.

Address—908 Second Street, Louisville, Ky.

William Churchill taught school for a year in Indianapolis and then went to England. The London Geographical Society sent him to the South Sea Islands;

he had his own yacht, and during his absence he made a long stay in Samoa, where he acquired the language of the Samoans. Upon his return to America he entered journalism in San Francisco. For two years he was Librarian in the Academy of Sciences in that city and while holding this position he delivered a course of twelve lectures on the people of the South Pacific, their languages, customs, etc. He then came east and contributed to various magazines. For a time he was in the Signal Service Bureau, in Washington. In 1891 he became literary editor of "The Brooklyn Times," occupying this position until June, 1896, when President Cleveland appointed him Consul General to Samoa. When President McKinley appointed his successor in 1898, he returned to this country. He is the author of "A Princess of Fiji," many scientific documents for the Government, magazine articles and reviews, as well as a great quantity of editorials. He married Miss Llewella Pierce, at New York, August 14th, 1889.

Address—14 Harrison Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Stephen Merrill Clement traveled abroad for nine months after graduation. He entered the Marine Bank, Buffalo, April 1st, 1883; was appointed Assistant Cashier, December, 1883, and Cashier, December, 1884. After serving in the latter capacity for ten years he was elected President, and still occupies that position, being one of the leading bankers of Western New York. He was Chairman of the Buffalo Clearing House for four years; is a Trustee of the Buffalo Board of Trade, Buffalo Library, Buffalo Seminary, Buffalo State Normal School, Buffalo Hospital and Buffalo Orphan Asylum. He married Miss Caroline Jewett Tripp, of Buffalo, March 27th, 1884, and has six children: Norman P., born April 12th, 1885; Edith C., April 22d, 1886; Stephen M., Jr., November 10th, 1887; Harold T., August 19th, 1889; Marion, March 26th, 1891; Stewart H., April 2d, 1895.

Address—Marine Bank, Buffalo, N. Y.

Edwin Bradford Cragin was graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, in the spring of 1886, and took the first Harsen prize ($500) for proficiency at examination. He spent a year and a half as an Interne at Roosevelt Hospital, and for a number of years had charge of the Department of Gynecology at Roosevelt Hospital, Out Patient Department. Since December, 1887, he has been practicing in New York. He is Attending Physician to the Sloane Maternity Hospital, Secretary of the Medical Board of the Roosevelt Hospital, Lecturer in Obstetrics, and Secretary of the Faculty, College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City. He is author of "Essentials of Gynecology," and one of the authors of "The American Text Book of Gynecology." He stands at the head of his profession, and in his specialty few equal him in the country. That his work has been appreciated by the Trustees of Columbia is evident from the following extract from President Low's annual report for 1898:

"Dr. Edwin B. Cragin, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons in the Class of 1886, in view of the resignation of Dr. McLane as Professor of Obstetrics, has been appointed, according to the custom of the School, Lecturer in Obstetrics for the next academic year. It is naturally hoped that Dr. Cragin, in due course, will be promoted to the chair vacated by Dr. McLane. Dr. Cragin for several years has been the Secretary of the Medical Faculty, and in this position has acquired an intimate acquaintance with the School which is likely to serve him in good stead in many ways. His efficient service in that not altogether easy position merits the thanks of the Trustees; and it also increases the expectation that he will be successful in the new position for which his professional acquirements are believed to equip him thoroughly."

He married Miss Mary R. Willard, at Colchester, Conn., May 23d, 1889, and has two daughters: Miriam Willard, born September 30th, 1890, and Alice Gregory, born November 18th, 1893.

Address—62 West Fiftieth Street, New York City.

Bryan Cumming shortly after leaving college returned to Augusta, Ga., and entered the office of his father, Joseph B. Cumming, and under his instruction took up the study of law. He was admitted to practice in the State Courts in January, 1884. He at once began the practice of his profession, and has followed it with increasing success ever since. In addition to a good general practice, he represents several corporate and railroad interests as general or local counsel. His place of business is in the City of Augusta, but he lives in one of the suburbs, known as Summerville, about three miles distant, on an elevation of several hundred feet above the city on premises that have been the home of members of his family for something over a century. He began a short career in politics by serving several years as Intendant (or Mayor) of Summerville. In 1892-3 he was a member of the Georgia House of Representatives, and in 1894-5 a member of the Georgia Senate. He found it impossible to deal with both politics and law, so gave up the former in order to give all his attention to his profession. He married Miss Mary G. Smith, at Summerville, Ga., November 29th, 1889. He has two children: Mary Shaler, born December 3d, 1891, and Joseph Bryan, born August 10th, 1893.

Address—Augusta, Ga.

George Edward Curtis, for a few months after receiving his degree of Bachelor of Arts, remained at his home in Birmingham, Conn., prosecuting his studies in his chosen work of mathematics. In the spring of 1883 he received an appointment under the Chief Signal Officer in the Weather Bureau at Washington. The acuteness and accuracy of his intellectual faculties at once attracted attention and soon secured promotion. He continued his work in Meteorology and Atmospheric Physics until 1887, when he accepted the professorship of Mathematics in Washburn College, Topeka, Kansas. Although successful as a teacher and popular with his students, he found the conditions of life uncongenial, and longed for the companionship and interchange of ideas with the scientists and philosophers of Washington, whither he returned. For several years he labored here, connected with the Smithsonian Institution, always finding time for some special work in the field of his choice.

His health was never robust; he now perceived that the harsh climate of the east was not suited to his delicate physique. He had already visited Arizona, in the employ of the Government, preparing a Geological Survey and again as the Meteorologist of the Dyrenforth rain-making expedition, and thither he went once more, hoping that the dry and bracing air of this region would restore his failing health. Here for many months he fought with heroic and uncomplaining fortitude against the all-conquering enemy—all alone, fearing to distress those who loved him by sad tidings. Finally, realizing that the battle must be lost, but not yet knowing how near he was to the last surrender, he determined to return to his home, by way of New Orleans, where he stopped to pay a long-promised visit to his college chum, Bernard Titche. The fatigue of his journey told upon him and, feeling his strength deserting him after a few days' stay, he hastened on, and about the middle of January, 1895, reached Washington. His mother came to meet him, but his physical powers, despite all that tender love could do, rapidly waned, and within a week his bright spirit passed away.

He received the degree of M.A. from Yale in June, 1887. He was an active member of the Philosophical Society of Washington, D. C., and wrote a number of articles on scientific subjects. Numerous articles by him relating to meteorology have been published by the Signal Office, "The American Journal of Science," "The American Meteorological Journal" and other scientific periodicals. The Century Co. paid a high tribute to his attainments by engaging him to write the definitions of the Meteorological terms in all but the first volume of the Century Dictionary, a work for which he was well qualified by reason of his special training and the conciseness and accuracy of his style of thought and language.

Short as was his career (he was but thirty-three years of age when he died), his achievements were considerable, and gave great promise of distinction.

*Theodore DeWitt Cuyler traveled abroad for six months and returned late in the fall of 1882. Not long afterwards he was attacked with malignant scarlet fever, and on January 1st, 1883, he died, having been ill but a very few days.

Stricken down so suddenly while in the enjoyment of perfect health and strength, his death came as a great shock to all his friends.

He was one of the most conspicuous figures in our class both in athletics and socially, and all who knew him will deeply mourn his loss.

A tablet in his memory has been placed by some of his classmates in the vestibule of Battell Chapel, and bears the inscription "Brave and Beloved."—[From the Triennial Record.]

Frederick Orren Darling was engaged in ranching in Montana until the spring of 1884. He was then a commission agent for hydraulic elevators and brick at Minneapolis, Minn. He afterwards engaged in some mining enterprises in the west. For several years he lived in New York, being connected with the firm of Belding Bros. Later he moved to Center Moriches, Long Island, and is at present engaged in active business as a member of the Moriches Fuel Co. He is unmarried.

Address—Center Moriches, N. Y.

Edwin Lynde Dillingham in October, 1882, entered the banking house of R. H. Parks & Co., 13 New Street, New York, where he remained until June 19, 1883. He was then a partner in the firm of Currie & Dillingham, Brokers, until March 1st, 1885, when the partnership was dissolved and he entered the employ of his uncle, Charles T. Dillingham, Publisher and Wholesale Bookseller, New York. From November, 1886, to February, 1892, he was in Boston, first with Ticknor & Co., Publishers, 211 Tremont Street—until they retired from business in May, 1889—and then with Lee & Shepard, Publishers, at 10 Milk Street. February 1st, 1892, he returned to New York, becoming junior partner in the firm of Charles T. Dillingham & Co., Wholesale Booksellers, 718 and 720 Broadway. May 1st, 1893, they moved to 764 and 766 Broadway, and on March 25th, 1896, they retired from business disposing of their stock and good-will to the Baker & Taylor Co. The October following he accepted a position with Charles Scribner's Sons, Publishers, 153-157 Fifth Avenue, New York, since which time he has been with them and is at present at the head of their Subscription Book Department. He is unmarried.

Address—153 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Franklin Maynard Eaton was graduated from the Harvard Medical School in 1885. He was House Officer in the City Hospital, Worcester, Mass., from April 15th to November 15th, 1885. During the winter of 1885 and spring of 1886 he studied in Vienna. In November, 1886, he settled in Providence, R. I., and for a number of years practiced at 336 Benefit Street. He was Surgical Externe to the City Hospital from March to December, 1885; Surgeon Q. P. D., R. I. Hospital, 1887-1896; Physician Prov. Disp., 1886-1889; Physician Home for Aged Women, 1890-1896, and Physician to Society P. C. C., 1889-1896. He has written a number of medical papers and has translated many articles from German medical periodicals. He was a member of the Rhode Island Medical Society Examining Board, 1890-1895; Anniversary Chairman, 1894, and President D. K. E. Alumni Assoc. of R. I., 1888-1890.

November 25th, 1885, he married Miss Emily T.

Parks, at Medford, Mass., and has a daughter, Irene Helen, born August 10th, 1887. Just as he was well established in a pleasant home, with a good practice and well on the top in hospital appointments, he lost both parents suddenly, and found his daughter fast yielding to that terrible disease, asthma, so he gave up work to seek health for his only child.

Address—Box 630, Providence, R. I.

James Richard Ely entered Columbia Law School, class of 1884, and remained during junior year. During that time he studied in the office of the then firm of Dunning, Edsall, Hart & Fowler, at No. 67 Wall Street, New York City. Subsequently, from May, 1884, until August, 12th, 1885, he served a clerkship in the office of Roger Foster, Yale '78. In December, 1885, he was admitted to the New York bar, and on the 1st of January, 1886, he opened an office for the general practice of the law, and he has since been actively engaged at his profession. He is now located at 15 Wall Street.

He has taken some interest in politics, having belonged to the old County Democracy and subsequently, to its successor, the State Democracy. Later he was a member of the National Democratic Party, in which he was on the Executive Committee of the County Organization. In April, 1895, he was appointed Assistant United States Attorney and served until February, 1898, when his resignation tendered in December, 1897, was accepted. The same year (1895) he was a delegate to the Syracuse Convention of the National Democratic Party, and he was a delegate to the National Convention of the National Democratic Party, which was held at Indianapolis, where Palmer and Buckner were nominated. In the fall of 1898 he was made a member of the Committee of One Hundred in the movement in behalf of an Independent judiciary.

In January, 1902, he was appointed Assistant District Attorney under William Travers Jerome, and he is now serving as such. In addition he continues his private practice. Since his admission to the bar he has been a member of the law firms of Ely & Walker and Ely & McBride. The Walker of his first firm was Eugene W. Walker, of Yale '80, and the McBride of his second firm was Wilber McBride, of the Class of '82. At present he is alone. He is a member of the Union League, University, Manhattan, Reform, N. Y. Athletic and Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Clubs. June 8th, 1886, he married Miss Emma Stotsenburg, of New Albany, Ind. He has two children: a son, David Jay, born in New York City, June 30th, 1888, and a daughter, Alice Anne, born in New York City, May 4th, 1892.

Address—15 Wall Street, New York.

William Phelps Eno left the class at the beginning of senior year, but later received his degree with name entered in Class of '82. He has been engaged in the management of real estate in New York City and in Hartford, Conn. For a number of years he has been in no active business, but has devoted such time as he could spare from the management of his property to yachting, coaching and other sports in which he is interested. A few years ago he had an article in the "Rider and Driver" which caused much comment and was widely copied throughout the country. His plan provides for the regulation of street traffic of New York, and has met with general approval. He has studied the whole question and makes suggestions covering the entire ground —from the advisability of equipping horseback riders at night with lanterns and bells to a plan for regulating the movements of carriages on Broadway on the occasions of opera performances. He advocates the creation of a new municipal bureau to have control of street traffic, over which a "Manager of Street Traffic" is to preside. This official is to be second in authority to the Chief of Police alone and his subordinates are to have police authority. If his plans can be put into execution a veritable revolution in the methods of regulating vehicles in New York will be effected. He is a member of the University, N. Y. Athletic, Seawanhaka Corinthian and N. Y. Yacht Clubs. He married Miss Alice Rathbone, at New Orleans, April 4th, 1883.

Address—Saugatuck, Conn.

Francis Cooley Farwell traveled abroad for some months after graduation. Since his return he has been with the firm of J. V. Farwell & Co., Wholesale Dry Goods, 148 Market Street, Chicago, Ill. He married Miss Fanny N. Day, of Chicago, May 19th, 1887, and has three children: Albert Day, born May 28th, 1888; Marion, born January 13th, 1892, and Elizabeth Cooley, born June 12th, 1895. His home is at Lake Forest, Ill.

Address—148 Market Street, Chicago, Ill.

Augustine FitzGerald has lived abroad most of the time since leaving college, and has devoted himself to the study of art. He was for some time in London, but is now in Paris, and has a studio at 11 Avenue Hoche. His masters in painting have been Mm. Boulanger and Lefebure, and he has also worked at the Cours d'Yvon at the Ecole des Beaux Arts. He spends his time between Paris, London and various points of Italy. Recently he took an extended painting tour in Egypt, and he has devoted some years to landscape work at Barbizon in the forest of Fontainebleau. In March, 1894, he married at Florence—ceremony being performed at the British Consulate, the English Church, and the Italian Municipality—Sybil Mary Winifred Wyndham, daughter of Major Charles Wyndham, formerly of the Ninth Bengal Cavalry. He has two children: Alida Cecilia Winifred, seven years of age, and Edward Galbraith Augustine, two years younger.

Address—11 Avenue Hoche, Paris, France.

Carlton Alexander Foote taught school for two years in the Bishop Scott Academy, Portland, Oregon. From September, 1884, until June, 1886, he held the Larned Scholarship, and pursued a course of non-professional studies in the graduate department of Yale University, receiving the degree of M.A. in June, 1902. He had charge of the Atchison Latin School, Atchison, Kansas, for eight years, and for several years taught Latin and French in the Irving School, 54 West Eighty-fourth Street, New York City. At present he is teaching in the DeWitt Clinton High School. He is unmarried.

Address—41 West Twelfth Street, New York.

Wilbur Harvey Nash Ford taught school in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., until 1885. He then taught for a year at the Park Institute, Rye, N. Y. In 1886 he became connected with Porter Academy, at Charleston, S. C., and for some time was its Principal. He is at the present time teaching in Chicago. He married Hattie W. Downs, at Milford, Conn., September 18th, 1889.

Address—3351 Calumet Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Burnside Foster studied for three years in the Harvard Medical School. In June, 1885, he received the degree of M.D., and the highest hospital appointment in his class. On August 1st, 1885, he began a term of eighteen months' service in the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston. After leaving the hospital in February, 1887, he spent the remainder of that year in study and practice at the hospitals of Vienna and Dublin. Upon his return to this country he went at once to Minneapolis, where he is now settled in the practice of medicine. During the winter of 1887-8 he lectured on Physiology to the students in the Minnesota Hospital College. He is Professor of Dermatology and Lecturer on the History of Medicine in the University of Minnesota, Editor of the "St. Paul Medical Journal," a Director of the St. Paul Public Library and Secretary of the Ramsey County Medical Society. He is the author of "A Course of Lectures on the History of Medicine and of the Medical Profession"; and he has also written numerous articles in the various medical journals of the country. The following, from a St. Paul paper, gives a vivid account of his thrilling experience in the summer of 1896:

"Dr. Burnside Foster played a brave but decidedly unpleasant part last week in what was the nearest approach to old-time frontier outlawry that has for a score of years occurred in Minnesota. Dr. Foster lives in St. Paul. His wife is spending the summer at Osceola Mills, a few miles from the city. Not being in good health she wired Dr. Foster to come to her, he not knowing how urgent the call might be, provided himself with funds—about $80—and left by a late train, so that when he arrived at Wyoming station, about thirty miles out of St. Paul, he found everything dark. The conductor shouted to him to awaken men at a small restaurant across the way and they would find some one to drive him to the mills. In response to continued knocking Edward Paul opened the restaurant door and the doctor said that he wanted to be driven to Osceola and would pay liberally for it. His remark was overheard by three men who had alighted from the train with him. Dr. Foster went in while Paul lighted a lamp. Jacob Hayes sat on the foot of a bed. Wilson Lyle was asleep in the room and in an adjoining room were sleeping Mrs. Paul and child. Dr. Foster had left the outside door slightly ajar. Suddenly it was thrown violently open and three men, armed with heavy revolvers, and faces masked with bandanas, burst into the room. At the moment Hayes was on the bed, Paul with the lighted lamp behind the lunch counter and Dr. Foster in the middle of the room. The ruffians promptly covered the men and one guarded the door. One of the thugs began searching, at revolver's point, Dr. Foster, who offered no resistance, though his wallet went, until the robber made a grab for the doctor's watch, which was a highly prized heirloom. This made the doctor desperate; he decided to fight, and turning suddenly around, grabbed a flatiron from a shelf and dealt the assailant a blow in the face. His resistance proved contagious, for Hayes rose from the bed and rushed to the doctor's rescue, but the desperado at the door shot him through the head and he fell dead. Paul had ducked behind the counter. The assassin, his taste whetted, walked deliberately over to the counter and leaning over shot the shivering Paul through the head—dead.

"Meanwhile Foster was in a life and death struggle with the man who had been going through his pockets. The third desperado joined the fray, firing several shots at the doctor, one narrowly missing Lyle on the bed and the infant in the next room. Soon all three villains went at Dr. Foster, and with their revolvers beating down his hands knocked him to the floor insensible, and as they supposed dead. They fled, alarm was given by Mrs. Paul, who, finding Dr. Foster lying in a pool of blood and the two others dead, rushed in her nightclothes to a neighbor's. Meanwhile Section Foreman Stear had been roused by the firing, and learning of the dual tragedy, roused the town. It was at first thought by the townsmen that Dr. Foster, who was unknown to them, was the guilty man, but he presently returned to consciousness and explained. His wounds dressed he was taken on a special train to St. Paul, where in St. Joseph's hospital he is now convalescent. The desperadoes were tracked and surrounded by a posse of citizens and officers. Some fifty shots were exchanged in fierce and close fight, which resulted in the killing of Bob Wilson, the assassin, and the capture of his two accomplices, George Kelly and Arthur Johnson, who are now in prison."

He married Miss Sophie Vernon Hammond, at St. Paul, January 1st, 1894, and has three children: Harriet Burnside, born February 3d, 1895; Elizabeth Hammond, born March 5th, 1899, and Roger Sherman, born December 13th, 1900.

Address—Lowry Arcade, St. Paul, Minn.

Asa Palmer French was instructor in Latin and French in the Thayer Academy, Braintree, Mass., for one year after graduation. He then entered the Law School of the Boston University. In December, 1884, he was offered the position of Law Clerk to the Judges of the Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims, at Washington, D. C. He accepted the appointment, but before entering upon the duties of his office he completed the required amount of law reading and was admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of Massachusetts. He remained in Washington until January, 1886, when he returned to Boston, and at once began the practice of the law.

He has gained for himself an enviable reputation as an advocate, on account of his remarkable management, in association with the Hon. James E. Cotter, his senior, of the defence of Thomas M. Bram, mate of the barkentine Herbert Fuller, tried for murder on the high seas in October, 1896, before the Supreme Court of the United States, when the judgment of the Circuit Court against Bram was reversed. This celebrated case brought him into national prominence and won for him a place in the front rank of criminal lawyers.

The strength of his convincing power in addressing jurors was made manifest when he secured the acquittal of Joseph E. Gerry, indicted for murder, in December, 1899, at Dedham. In civil cases he has also figured in many important cases, and two years ago he won additional prominence by his able presentation of the cause of the anti-vivisectionists before the Committee on Chancery at the State House. This service was given for practically no remuneration, and as a contribution to the cause of humanity.

In November, 1891, he was the nominee of both the Republican and Democratic parties for District Attorney for the Southeastern District of Massachusetts, comprising the counties of Norfolk and Plymouth, and was elected for a term of three years. He married Miss Elizabeth Ambrose Wales, of Randolph, Mass., December 13th, 1887, and has two children: Jonathan Wales, born April 26th, 1891, and Constance, born April 13th, 1896. He lives in Randolph, Mass. His office is in the New England Mutual Life Insurance Building, 87 Milk Street, Boston.

Address—87 Milk Street, Boston, Mass.

Joseph Emanuel Friend was for the two years following graduation engaged in mercantile business in New York. At the end of that time he moved to Chicago, and there opened an office representing a cotton goods house of New York. After remaining in Chicago seven years he, in 1890, severed his connection with the New York firm and removed to New Orleans, where he has since resided. He is now engaged in the cotton factor and commission business, being a member of the firm of Julius Weis & Co. He married Miss Ida Weis, at New Orleans, March 19th, 1890. They have two children: Lillian Frances, born January 15th, 1891, and Julius Weis, born August 20th, 1894.

Address—817 Gravier Street, New Orleans, La.

Harry Chambers Fries studied law in the office of George W. Biddle, at Philadelphia, and was admitted to the bar in December, 1884. On January 1st, 1885, he became a member of the firm of Prevost & Fries, Attorneys at Law, 629 Walnut Street, Philadelphia. He practiced as a member of that firm until his death, which occurred July 14th, 1886. He had long been a sufferer from acute dyspepsia, but he had no knowledge of any weakness of his lungs until a few weeks before his death, when he had a severe hemorrhage, from the shock of which he did not rally, but rapidly declined until his death.

He was of a quiet, earnest disposition, commanding the respect of all, and the love of those who knew him best. His strength of character and his natural abilities were such that had they been coupled with a strong physique, he would surely have attained a position in the world that would have been an honor to the class.—[From the Sexennial Record.]

Frank Runyon Gallaher after graduation entered the employ of Otis Bros. & Co., of New York, Boston and Chicago. He left them to assume charge of a large copper mine in Arizona, where the heat and lack of "creature comforts" made life such a burden that he returned to Otis Bros. He left them a second time, to become partner in a coal company, but his partner dying, the firm was dissolved, and he again returned to Otis Bros. In 1892 he retired from active business, and since then he has lived the life of a "country gentleman" at Essex, Conn. He is chief executive of his local town government, which includes three separate villages, and makes politics his amusement, being the local "boss" and running the caucus to suit himself.

As a member of the Connecticut State Legislature he was exceedingly prominent both in debate and as a leader on the Democratic side. A Hartford daily, in describing the members of the Legislature, published the following:

"Frank R. Gallaher—the world goes well with him—at thirty-nine he is 'retired'—and he goes well with the world. His grace of manner and felicitous speech have become familiar. His remarks are short, but always pithy, and frequently witty. By the record he has assisted in making for it, no man need ever hesitate to say that he was a member on the minority side of the House at this session."

As a member of the Connecticut State Sewerage Commission he made an extended tour of Europe (his third trip since graduation) in 1900. He is President of the Essex Light and Power Co., whose territory comprises a large part of Middlesex County, Conn. He says he spends most of his time playing golf, yachting, fishing and shooting, as he has neither wife nor children to say him nay.

Address—Essex, Conn.

Henry Washburn Gardes is with the firm of Holloway & Gardes, Wholesale Hardware, New Orleans, La. He married Miss Lucie Wiltz, daughter of ex-Governor Wiltz, at New Orleans, November 7th, 1888.—[From the Sexennial Record.]†

Charles Burr Graves, the fall after graduation, entered the medical department of Harvard University, where he continued as a student of medicine for three years. This was followed by a term of service of eighteen months at the Boston City Hospital. On account of a hospital regulation, which forbade house officers to take their degrees till near the end of the hospital term of service, he did not get his degree of M.D. till June, 1886, though his course at the medical school had been ended a year before. Associated with him in the medical school were Foster, Lowe, Eaton and Scudder. In January, 1887, upon the completion of his hospital service, he settled in New London, where he has remained ever since, engaged in the general practice of medicine. He was for a number of years City Physician, has been Clerk of New London County Medical Association, Secretary of New London Medical Society and later President of same society; also Secretary of Medical Board, New London Memorial Hospital. He says: " The vacation times of a busy physician are few and far between, but I have taken a few trips to the mountains of New England and have managed to attend most of the class reunions. My interest in outdoor studies, especially field botany and ornithology, continues, and in the way of recreation much of my leisure time is devoted to these sciences." He married Miss Frances M. Miner, at New London, Conn., September 10th, 1891. His son, Addison Miner, born July 8th, 1894, died April 12, 1902. He has a daughter, Elizabeth, born November 16th, 1898.

† No response to repeated communications asking for information.

Address—22 Franklin Street, New London, Conn.

George Heber Graves spent a year in the lumber business at Stetsonville, Wisconsin. He then studied chemistry for two years in the Sheffield Scientific School. He was Assistant Chemist in the Fairfield Chemical Co., Bridgeport, Conn., from July, 1885, to September, 1886. He was then Superintendent and Chemist of the Fairfield Chemical Co., at New Haven, until August, 1888, when he became Chemist and Director of the Fairfield Chemical Works, at Bridgeport, Conn. He married Miss Mary Caroline Goodsell, at Bridgeport, Conn., January 17th, 1901.

Address—The Fairfield Chemical Works, Bridgeport, Conn.

Herbert Stanton Griggs was graduated from the Yale Law School in June, 1884. He then practiced in St. Paul, in the office of ex-Governor C. K. Davis. In June, 1885, he was appointed Assistant City Attorney, and served as such until February, 1886, when he was obliged by ill health to give up all work. In the fall of 1886 he went abroad, where he remained for a year, and returned with health entirely restored. He again practiced in St. Paul until the fall of 1888, when he removed to Tacoma, Washington, where he is now located. He is the author of various historical articles and occasional rhymes. He writes: " Have acquired a comfortable fortune and have not missed any of the pleasures that society, athletics and professional success have always in reserve for Yale graduates—except matrimony."

Address—Tacoma, Wash.

Alfred Chapman Hand spent the first year after graduation at Chicago and Marquette, at the latter place as a private tutor. For two years he was an instructor at Williston Seminary. The summer of 1885 was spent in Europe tramping Wales and Switzerland. That fall he entered Union Theological Seminary, New York, and was graduated in 1888. He married Sara Lord Avery, June 27th, 1888. He was licensed to preach by the Presbytery of Lackawanna, at Honesdale, Pa., and although urged to accept a pastorate in New York City he chose to accept a less conspicuous position, and accepted a call to the Church of the Covenant, in Buffalo. A Buffalo paper said of him: " He at once endeared himself to his people and the community at large by his singular graces of mind and manner."

He had scarcely begun his work when he was suddenly confronted with alarming symptoms of a dread malady —a disease so relentless in its sure and steady progress as to bring despair to the most courageous heart. To him the scaling of the mountain peak and the long "carries" of the North Woods had been a pastime, but the old strength slowly but surely ebbed away. During these days his heart was strong, and brave and hopeful. What anguish and sorrow he may have had ere he said: "God's will be done," no one but his Maker knows. He hastened to Carlsbad, and then went to Cannes for the winter with his wife, where Avery Chapman Hand was born, April 27th, 1889. The boy is now thirteen years of age, and in many respects wonderfully like his father.

In April, 1890, he returned to the home land and was welcomed back by some of the boys resident in and about New York. For some months he traveled much, hoping to find a congenial spot where pure air and healthful surroundings might stay the progress of the fatal malady. Hope alternated with anxious fear, but all the time he was working as his strength would permit in the old familiar way of helping others. A sturdy Canadian farmer who heard him preach one Sabbath in a pastorless country church said: "You should not be preachin' here, you ought to have a cathedral." And his cathedral was fast building. His last public address was made February 16th, 1892. Among other things, he said: "The first thought of the day should be of Heaven." That was the secret of his peace. His physician had felt those ties of friendship which still bind his classmates in loving memory, and remained by his bedside all of the night of March 12th, and on the morrow, a beautiful Sabbath day, March 13th, 1892, "Duke" went home. His last act of consciousness was a smile and one of those happy remarks so characteristic of the dear fellow, and addressed to his loving and devoted wife.

Ten years have passed—we have not forgotten him—and we will not, for quite unconsciously his influence for good was stamped on our lives and in so far he lives in us. His body was laid at rest at Mansfield, Ohio.

"O noble Soul! O gentle heart!
Hail! and farewell!"

Charles Burnell Hawkes was graduated at the Yale Law School in June, 1883. He practiced in Topeka, Kansas, until the fall of 1886, when he returned to New Haven, and took the graduate course at the Yale Law School, receiving the degree of M.L., in June, 1887. He is now practicing in New York City, at 51 Chambers Street. He married Miss Julia A. Burrell, at New York, January 21st, 1890.

Address—51 Chambers Street, New York.

Charles Samuel Hebard is engaged in the lumber manufacturing business as a member of the firm of Charles Hebard & Son, Pequaming, Mich. He, however, spends a good part of each year in the east, having winter residences in Thomasville, Ga., and Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia. He married Miss Hannah J. Morgan, of Cleveland, Ohio, September 30th, 1885, and has a son, Morgan, born February 23d, 1887.

Address—Pequaming, Baraga County, Mich.

Theodore Holland was graduated at the Columbia Law School, and admitted to the New York bar in 1884. He then became interested in, and was for a while Secretary of the United Coal and Oil Gas Co., of New York. In the spring of 1888 he removed to Denver, Col., becoming Vice-President and Treasurer of the Buena Vista Improvement Co. He is at present practicing law in Denver. He married Miss Florence Olmstead Ward, at Denver, Col., June 3d, 1891, and has two daughters, Barbara and Elizabeth, born April 15th, 1892.

Address—1319 Williams Street, Denver, Col.

Samuel Cornell Hopkins the first three years after graduation was in Texas, ranching. He then entered the Catskill National Bank, Catskill, N. Y., and has been connected with that institution since 1885. He has spent a good deal of time in travel, and April 21st, 1897, married Miss Mary Howland Pell, at New York. He is a member of the New York University Club.

Address—Catskill, N. Y.

Henry Clarke Jefferds studied medicine in Philadelphia, graduating with honors April 3d, 1885. He then served for eighteen months in the Homeopathic Hospital, on Ward's Island, New York, at the same time taking a post-graduate course in the Polyclinic. From August, 1886, to November, 1889, he practiced medicine in Bangor, Maine, then moved to Portland, Oregon, where he is now engaged in his profession, with offices in the Dekum Building. He is Surgeon to Portland Hospital, Physician in Charge of Children's Home and Assistant Surgeon First Regiment, O. N. G. He is unmarried.

Address—603 Dekum Building, Portland, Oregon.

Barclay Johnson held the Larned Scholarship for a year and pursued a course of non-professional studies in the graduate department of the college. He was also, during this period, connected for a short time with the Yale Law School. The following year he entered the Columbia Law School and the law office of Alexander & Green, New York. For nearly two years he devoted himself with the closest application to his studies, allowing himself but very little recreation.

He lived at his home in Greenwich, Conn., and was compelled to make a fatiguing trip to and from New York each day. His evenings were largely spent in a wide course of reading in mental and moral philosophy, and in thinking and writing upon deep and difficult metaphysical problems. Under this terrible strain his strong body and brilliant mind at last gave way. He died at Greenwich, April 21st, 1885.

Our foremost scholar, a true gentleman, with so many noble and endearing characteristics, beloved by us all, so full of great promise—it is hard, very hard to think that in this our first record, must terminate so sadly his history as a member of our class.—[From the Triennial Record.]

Frank Albert Kellogg studied dynamic engineering for a short time in the Sheffield Scientific School, and in the fall of 1883 entered the Yale Law School from which he was graduated in June, 1885. He practiced in the office of Doolittle & Bennett, at New Haven, until October, 1887. In April, 1888, he became manager of the Lawn Tennis Department of D. W. Granbery & Co., at 20 John Street, New York. For two years he was with A. G. Spaulding & Co., four years with "Outing" Magazine and one year with " Bachelor of Arts." Since 1898 he has been with the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co., with the exception of one year spent in Darien, Conn. He was married June 4th, 1900, at Church of St. Mary the Virgin, New York, to Miss Carolyn F. Kilbourne. His daughter, Helen Kilbourne, born March 1st, 1902, died August 5th, 1902.

Address—280 Fifty-eighth Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

John Prescott Kellogg was graduated from the Yale Law School in June, 1884. Since then he has practiced law as a member of the firm of Kellogg & Kellogg, Waterbury, Conn. He was Assistant City Attorney of Waterbury from 1891 to 1893 and Prosecuting Attorney of District Court 1893 to 1896. Since January 1st, 1896, he has been City Attorney, and since February, 1897, Assistant State's Attorney. He was Captain and A. D. C. Brigade Staff, C. N. G., 1890-1892, and Captain commanding Co. A, Second Regiment, C. N. G., 1892-1893. He married Miss Clara Mason, at Bridgeport, Conn., June 1st, 1892, and has three children: Fredrika Mason, born January 23d, 1894; Elizabeth Hosmer, February 23d, 1899, and Rosemary, February 16th, 1902.

Address—56 Church Street, Waterbury, Conn.

James Henry Kingman studied medicine in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, receiving the degree of M.D., June 28th, 1885. He served as House Physician in Bellevue Hospital, New York, until October 1st, 1886. During 1887 and 1888 he practiced at New Bedford, Mass., and was City Physician. Since then he has resided in Pawtucket, R. I., practicing his profession there. He was Secretary of the Providence Medical Association for two years, and is now a member of the Rhode Island Medical Society, Providence Medical Association and Pawtucket Medical Association. He has prepared and read before different medical societies various papers on medical subjects. He married Miss Fanny A. Terry, at New Bedford, Mass., November 19th, 1889. She died December 29th of the same year of typhoid fever and July 6th, 1898, he married Miss Mary T. Cheever, of Portsmouth, N. H.

Address—Pawtucket, R. I.

Alfred Beard Kittredge studied law for a year in an office in Keene, N. H., and then entered the senior class of the Yale Law School in September, 1884, being graduated in June, 1885. Always taking an active interest in politics he has for a number of years been the Republican leader in South Dakota and a member of the Republican National Committee. He was State Senator twice and is now the first and only representative of '82 in the U. S. Senate, his term expiring in 1903. He is unmarried.

Address—Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

Howard Hoyt Knapp after graduation studied law at the Yale Law School. He was admitted to the bar in June, 1884, and in September went into the office of Seymour & Seymour, Attorneys, Bridgeport, Conn. (Edward W. Seymour, Yale, '53, and Morris W. Seymour, Yale, '66.) On January 1st, 1887, he became a partner of Morris W. Seymour, under name of Seymour & Knapp, and he is still practicing law as member of that firm at 1094 Main Street. From his admission to the bar until he was married he lived at his old home in South Norwalk, and during the winter of '84 and '85 had some thrilling experiences in connection with labor troubles. For several months, both by day and night, he assisted in guarding property and men, and had many exciting times, having, among other experiences, the pleasure (?) of a dynamite explosion, which blew out the end of the building where he slept.

He was Corporation Counsel for the City of Bridgeport in 1892-3 and is now counsel to the Commissioners of Fairfield County. He was Treasurer of Fairfield County Law Library Association from 1894-1900. He is on the Board of Directors of the Boys' Club, Bridgeport, member of the Grievance Committee of Fairfield County Bar, and Instructor in Connecticut Practice at Yale Law School. Recently he was made a member of the Executive Committee of the Connecticut Civil Service Reform Association. He was for three years a member of the Board of Apportionment and Taxation of Bridgeport, and in December, '99, was unanimously elected president of the board. The following editorial appeared in the Bridgeport "Evening Post" the day after his election:

> The selection of Howard H. Knapp for president of the board of apportionment is a distinct compliment to that shrewd and conservative lawyer. Mr. Knapp has been a member of the board for some time, and understands the needs and requirements of the city probably as well as anyone in the city. He will be fearless, earnest and impartial in managing the affairs of this important board.

He married Miss Emily Perkins, at Hartford, Conn., February 9th, 1888, and has a son, Farwell, born November 28th, 1893. Another son, born April 19th, 1891, died in infancy. Through athletics and his position as instructor in Yale Law School, he has kept in close touch with Yale life, and by his coaching has contributed in no small part to her victories on the football field.

Address—1094 Main Street, Bridgeport, Conn.

George William Lay pursued a three years' course at the General Theological Seminary of the Episcopal Church, New York. During that time he was engaged in church work, especially in Calvary Parish, where he had charge of a choir and assisted in mission work. He spent the summer of 1884 in traveling abroad. He was ordained Deacon of the Protestant Episcopal Church, by Bishop Lee, of Delaware, in St. Paul's Church, Centerville, Md., on June 5th, 1885, and became Assistant Minister of St. Paul's Church, Erie, Pa., in July of that year. He was ordained Priest, by Bishop Whitehead, of Pittsburg, on April 27th, 1886. On July 1st, 1887, he resigned his position in Erie, to become Assistant Minister of St. George's Church, Newburgh, N. Y. He had charge of this parish for four months, during the Rector's absence, and was afterwards in charge of its Mission Chapel. He remained there until September, 1888, when he became a Master in St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., where he is still.

He says: "My duties here are such as one would expect of a clerical master in a church school. I assist in the services of the two chapels, preaching with tolerable frequency to the boys and to those from the neighborhood. I am a member of our choir and have one of the Forms each Sunday in Sacred Studies. I have taught other subjects, but have finally settled down to Greek and Mathematics; and, in addition to my teaching I have a part in the supervisory work." More than half of his vacations have been taken up with clerical duties in churches in New Hampshire or in other States. As a clergyman of his diocese he has been for ten years one of the three clerical members of the Board of Managers of Diocesan Missions, and for the last eight he has served as its Secretary.

In the summer of 1891 he took a trip to San Francisco, Salt Lake City and different parts of Colorado, and in that of 1894 he visited the southern part of England, Belgium and France. He married Miss Anna Booth Balch, daughter of Rear Admiral George B. Balch, U. S. N., at Baltimore, Md., June 26th, 1894. He has three children: George Balch, born May 4th, 1895; Elizabeth Atkinson, born April 6th, 1897, and Ellen Booth, born March 17th, 1899.

Address—St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.

Charles Henry Lewis studied in the Bellevue Hospital Medical College, New York, and received the degree of M.D., in April, 1884. He was House Physician and Surgeon to St. Vincent's Hospital for eighteen months and Attending Physician, Out Patient Department, to the same institution for three years. For five years he was Assistant Physician, Out Patient Department, Roosevelt Hospital. He is at the present time Visiting Physician to Columbus Hospital and Assistant Visiting Physician to St. Vincent's Hospital, also Clinical Lecturer on Medicine at the University and Bellevue Hospital Medical College. With the exception of one year abroad, devoted to medical study, he has been since graduation from the medical college engaged in the practice of his profession in New York City. He has contributed a number of articles to the "Medical Record" and other medical journals. He is a member of the University and N. Y. Athletic Clubs, and is unmarried.

Address—51 West Fifth-eighth Street, New York City.

Charles Jonas Long is in the dry goods business at Wilkes-Barre, Pa. He is a Trustee of the Wilkes-Barre Board of Trade, a member of the Wyoming Historical Society and is connected with many other local institutions.—[From the Sexennial Record.] †

Seymour Crane Loomis was graduated at the Yale Law School in 1884, and has since practiced in New Haven. He was in the office of Alling & Webb until October, 1886, when he became a member of the firm of Stoddard, Thompson & Loomis. During the years 1885-6 he was Assistant City Clerk of New Haven, and in 1886 Acting City Clerk, elected by City Council. He was Executive Secretary of the State of Connecticut for 1893-4, appointed by Governor Morris. He married Miss Catherine Canfield Northrop, at New Haven, April 20th, 1892.

Address—81 Church Street, New Haven, Conn.

Martin Lovering has taught every year since graduation except one, when he had to give up on account of ill health. He is now teaching at Tuckahoe, N. Y. He married Miss Eva A. Archer, at New Rochelle, N. Y., August 5th, 1885. He has two children: Charlotte Elizabeth, born January 14th, 1887, and James Howe, born September 12th, 1890.

† No response to repeated communications asking for information.

Address—Tuckahoe, N. Y.

Fred Messenger Lowe was graduated from the Harvard Medical School in June, 1885. He practiced for a number of years at 36 Hancock Street, Boston, and is now located in West Newton, Mass. He married Miss Amelia F. Robbins, at Arlington, Mass., December 16th, 1887, and has one daughter, Gwendolen.

Address—1354 Washington Street, West Newton, Mass.

Chester Wolcott Lyman spent the summer of 1882 at Machiasport, Maine, in the employ of the U. S. Coast Survey. In November of the same year he went abroad as a private tutor, and spent the winter in Rome. He returned to this country in August, 1883, and during the following academic year studied in the Sheffield Scientific School. In December, 1884, he went to Asheville, N. C., where he remained until November, 1885. For the past seventeen years he has been in the paper business, for a number of years being connected with the firm of W. H. Parsons & Co., in charge of their western business, with office in Chicago. He was for a while located at West Newton, Pa. Leaving there in December, 1890, he went to Herkimer, N. Y., and in time became Manager and a Director of the Herkimer Paper Company. He resided in Herkimer until the spring of 1898.

While in Herkimer he was a member of the Fort Schuyler Club, of Utica, and various local societies. He is also an associate member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, a member of the University Club in New York, of the Yale Club, of the Sons of the American Revolution and other organizations—social and scientific. In 1895 he received the degree of M.A. at Yale for a course of study in electricity. Upon leaving Herkimer in 1898 he went to New York and associated himself with the International Paper Company, at 30 Broad Street. Since its organization he has held the office of Assistant to the President, and for the past two years the additional position of Manager of one of its departments. In February, 1897, he was elected Secretary and Treasurer of the American Paper & Pulp Association, and was re-elected in 1898. He is unmarried.

Address—30 Broad Street, New York.

Wilber McBride spent the year following graduation at the Sheffield Scientific School studying mining engineering. In 1883 he went to Marquette, Mich., and was interested there in lumber and in the cattle business at Miles City, Mont., until 1890. He then went to New York and has been continuously in the practice of the law since that time. He is a member of the University and Manhattan Clubs. He married Mrs. Anna Truax Thurber, at New York, November 24th, 1896.

Address—16 Exchange Place, New York.

Harry Chapman McKnight was graduated from the Yale Theological Seminary in May, 1885. He was ordained to the ministry, and installed as pastor of the First Congregational Church, Falmouth, Me., October 7th, 1885. He resigned his pastorate September 13th, 1888, to become pastor of the Congregational Church at North Guilford, Conn., and for several years he has been located at East Longmeadow, Mass. He has served for a number of years on school boards in Connecticut, and is the author of several historical sermons, which have been published. He married Miss Jennie Louisa Weed, at New Haven, Conn., May 19th, 1886. They have one child: Wallace, born May 2d, 1890; Ray Weed, born May 11th, 1892, died August 20th, 1892, and Theodore Weed, born May 30th, 1896, died August 6th, 1896.

Address—East Longmeadow, Mass.

Daniel Walton Macmillan was for several years connected with the Dixon Fire Clay Co., St. Louis, Mo. In 1888 he was admitted to the firm and made Secretary and Treasurer. He is now living in Cincinnati, Ohio, where he is manager of the Cincinnati branch of The Hammond Typewriter Co. He married Miss Alice Robinson, at Brooklyn, N. Y., September 16th, 1899.

Address—137 East Fourth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Herbert Lyman Moodey was in Minneapolis until 1885, where he was a member of the firm of Moodey

Bros., and was engaged in the wholesale fruit and fancy groceries business, and also in real estate and loans. In 1885 he removed to Painesville, Ohio, where he was a member of the firm of Moodey & Co., proprietors of The City Mills, and of the firm of H. L. Moodey & Co., Druggists and Grocers. In 1892 he engaged in the real estate business in New York City, in which he remained until 1897. He is at present a manufacturer of hardware specialties, with office at 150 Nassau Street. His home is in Plainfield, N. J. He married Miss Helen Antoinette Paine, at Painesville, Ohio, July 12th, 1883. They have four children: Antoinette Paine, born May 15th, 1884; Helen Chapin, October 26th, 1886; Gertrude, September 28th, 1888; Harriette, October 13th, 1890.

Address—603 Watchung Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Charles Newton Morris was for two years after graduation a Paymaster's Clerk in the U. S. Army. During the year 1884-5 he pursued a course of study in history and politics in the graduate department of Johns Hopkins University, and was also during part of that year an Instructor in History in the Washington High School, Washington, D. C. In the fall of 1885 he was a graduate student in political science at Yale. He spent the winter of 1886 as a private tutor in Chicago, and in May and June of that year he taught in the High School at Montclair, N. J. The following academic year he was again a graduate student in political science at Yale. In September, 1887, he entered the Berkeley Divinity School, Middletown, Conn., and read for orders in the Protestant Episcopal Church during 1887 and 1888. He was ordained Deacon in 1889, Priest in 1890, by Bishop Williams, of Connecticut, and has been engaged in church work at various places and in various capacities ever since. He received the degree of M.A. from Yale in 1887 and from Trinity College, Toronto, Canada, in 1893. He is at present located at Laurel, Del., but his permanent address is West Hartford, Conn. He is unmarried.

Address—West Hartford, Conn.

Walter Murphy was graduated from the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania in June, 1884. He published in that year an essay entitled "Remainders to Children as a Class," for which he was awarded the Sharswood Prize at the University Law School; also "A Digest of the Partnership Law of Pennsylvania," and "A Digest of the Corporation Law of Pennsylvania." He practiced in Philadelphia until the fall of 1888, when he removed to Salt Lake City, Utah, where he was for many years the associate and later the partner of Hon. J. G. Sutherland, the well-known author of legal textbooks. He died February 5th, 1897, having gone down under an attack of typhoid-pneumonia after a week's illness.

For two terms he was County Attorney of Salt Lake County and was one of the founders of the University Club, being at the time of his death its President. He married at Philadelphia, September 20th, 1889, Miss Emma Benson Purves and they had three children: Harold Purves, born July 9th, 1890, Helen Benson, April 9th, 1893, and Emma Maxwell, January 12th, 1895.

He was kind, sympathetic, loving, manly, courageous and true. An old and close friend (his roommate at Princeton, and after he moved to Salt Lake City in 1888 his constant companion and neighbor) writes:

"His profession had not as yet brought him either wealth or fame—perhaps they never would have come to him through the law, for Murphy was speculative rather than practical. But his was an intellectual life. He was fond of philosophizing upon the deeper problems of life —most of all upon that great mystery whose solution comes at last to all. Surely if there be in the silent halls of Death one cheerful sunny chamber where boundless outlook on the sea of Eternity is bright and peaceful, that must be his whose untimely death I mourn with you."

John Russell O'Hanlon since graduation has been an Instructor in Pennington (N. J.) Seminary, of which institution his father has been President for the past thirty-three years. He has been Vice-President of the Seminary for eighteen years, his department being that of Higher Mathematics. He married Miss Lida Lillagore, at Ocean Grove, N. J., December 27th, 1882. They have five children: Russell Yale (class boy), born October 24th, 1883; John Nelson, March 3d, 1887; Marguerite H., August 9th, 1890; Marie M., December 6th, 1893, and Laura, March 26th, 1898.

Address—Pennington, N. J.

Arthur Sherwood Osborne was graduated from the Yale Law School and admitted to the bar in June, 1884. In January, 1885, he was appointed Executive Secretary by Governor Harrison, of Connecticut, for a term of two years. Since January, 1887, he has practiced law in New Haven. He is unmarried.

Address—P. O. Box 164, New Haven, Conn.

Frank Edward Page studied law and practiced in Chicago in partnership with Bates until November, 1885, when the firm was dissolved. Since that time he has practiced alone. He has been more or less active for the past six years in reform municipal movements, notably the Municipal Voters' League, which has materially elevated the standard of the City Council of Chicago. An active practice has absorbed his time and attention, but he has found outside occupation in connection with his church and sundry religious and benevolent movements, notably the city, national and State work of the Christian Endeavor Society. He married Miss Gertrude M. Swenson, at Chicago, July 2d, 1895.

Address—Ashland Block, Chicago, Ill.

Josiah Culbert Palmer was graduated at the Columbia Law School in 1884, and has been actively engaged in the practice of his profession in New York ever since. He is a member of the firm of Lindsay, Kremer, Kalish & Palmer, with offices at 27 William Street. December 4th, 1889, he married Miss Mary Eagle, at Brooklyn, N. Y., and has two children: William Eagle, born December 6th, 1890, and J. Culbert, Jr., born August 11th, 1896. He is a member of the University Club and of the Sons of the Revolution.

Address—27 William Street, New York.

William Scranton Pardee was graduated at the Yale Law School in 1884, and has since practiced in New Haven. He writes "Pardee is still Pardee, and there is nothing to add that I know of." He is unmarried.

Address—581 George Street, New Haven, Conn.

Samuel Maxwell Parke studied law in the office of George R. Bedford, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and was admitted to the bar in June, 1885. He is now practicing at Pittston,Pa. He has been since January, 1887, a Director in the First National Bank of Pittston and in the Pittston Gas Light Co. In February, 1888, he was elected a member of the West Pittston Town Council and he is also a member of the Board of Health. He is unmarried.

Address—Pittston, Pa.

William Henry Parsons, Jr., traveled abroad for six months after graduation. On January 1st, 1883, he entered the business house of W. H. Parsons & Co.,

Manufacturers of and Dealers in Paper, New York City. On January 1st, 1884, he became junior partner in that firm and stockholder in their mills at Brunswick, Me., West Newton, Pa., and Saugerties, N. Y. He was Treasurer of W. H. Parsons & Co. and an officer and director in their manufacturing companies. On April 1st, 1900, he withdrew from W. H. Parsons & Co., and with his brother, organized the firm of Parsons Brothers, Paper Merchants and Exporters, taking over the merchandising and general commission business formerly done by W. H. Parsons & Co. His firm have offices at 257 Broadway, and in London and Sydney, Australia, and are export agents for some of the largest paper mill companies. He has always been prominent in religious and philanthropic work, devoting to it much of his time. He is a member of the University, N. Y. Athletic and American Yacht Clubs. He married Miss Laura Wolcott Collins, at Rye, N. Y., June 26th, 1884. Children: Annie Rankin, born August 8th, 1885, died October 5th, 1886; William Henry, third, born may 29th, 1888; John Palmer, born April 16th, 1890; Oliver Wolcott, born September 12th, 1892; Laura Cecelia, born November 6th, 1893; Mary Marselis, born October 8th, 1894. He resides in New York City.

Address—257 Broadway, New York.

Chauncey Howard Pember was for two years in the custom tailoring and ready-made clothing business. For twelve years he was junior partner in the firm of E.

Tolles & Co., Wholesale Woolens and Tailors' Trimmings, and since 1896 has been associated with his brother in the same line of business, under the firm name of M. W. Pember's Sons, at 292 Asylum Street, Hartford. He is unmarried.

Address—292 Asylum Street, Hartford, Conn.

Richard Henry Pierce taught for a year in the Columbia City High School, Columbia City, Ind. He then spent two years as a student of electrical engineering in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, and received the degree of Bachelor of Science. He was then for a time Assistant County Engineer of Middlesex County, Mass. He afterwards became an Inspector for the Western Edison Light Co., at Chicago, and was with that company through various changes of organization from 1885 to 1890. In November, 1891, he was made Assistant Electrical Engineer and later Chief Electrical Engineer of the World's Columbian Exposition. In 1894 he formed the firm of Pierce & Richardson, which is engaged in mechanical, electrical, sanitary, heating and ventilating engineering in a purely professional way. He is now President of this company, which was incorporated in 1897. He is the author of a book, entitled "The National Electrical Code," also of numerous articles on electrical subjects. He married Miss Carrie de Zeng Morrow, at Green Bay, Wis., April 15th, 1891, and has one son, Richard de Zeng, born April 20th, 1892.

Address—Manhattan Building, Chicago, Ill.

Henry Barstow Platt traveled abroad for about six months, and after his return was for some time Superintendent of the Gaines Coal & Coke Co., Addison, N. Y. He was then with the firm of Gere, Truman, Platt & Co., Manufacturers of Agricultural Implements, Owego, N. Y., until May 1st, 1887. For several years he was Superintendent of the Money Order Department of the United States Express Company, at 49 Broadway, New York City, and is now General Superintendent. He is also Vice-President of the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland. He is a member of the University, Colonial, Lawyers' and American Yacht Clubs. He married Miss Grace Lee Phelps, at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., November 9th, 1887. They have three children: Sherman Phelps, born June 2d, 1890; Charlotte, born December 6th, 1896, and Thomas Collier, 2d, born May 3d, 1898.

Address—49 Broadway, New York.

William Pollock in the fall of 1882 became a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and engaged in the banking and brokerage business at 25 Nassau Street, New York City, the firm name being Pollock & Bixby. The firm was dissolved in the spring of 1883, and Pollock continued the business for about a year. He then retired from the Stock Exchange, and was without active business until 1887, when he removed to Bridgeport, Conn., where he was for some time connected with the Housatonic R. R. Co. During the past few years he has been living in New York City. He married Mrs.

Fannie Dawson Greenough, of Wilmington, N. C., August 9th, 1882. He has a daughter, Margaret, born June 27th, 1883.—[From the Sexennial Record.] †

Julius Howard Pratt, Jr., after graduation was for two years an Instructor in Montclair (N. J.) High School, and for three years held the Silliman Fellowship in Yale University, while pursuing a course in the study of Physics. He received the degree of Ph.D. in 1887, and the following year he was Instructor in Physics at Cornell University. From 1888 to 1890 he was Instructor in Physics and Mathematics at Illinois College, Jacksonville, Ill., and since 1890 he has been Principal of Milwaukee Academy, Milwaukee, Wis. He was a member of the Board of Visitors, University of Wisconsin, 1894-96, and a member of the Committee Auxiliary to Committee of Ten on Study of Greek in Secondary Schools. He married Miss Annie Barclay, at Washington, D. C., December 27th, 1892.

Address—Milwaukee Academy, Milwaukee, Wis.

James Quackenbush Rice entered the U. S. Patent Office, Washington, D. C., as Assistant Examiner early in 1883. He was promoted through the various grades of Assistant Examiner and was appointed Principal Examiner of the Patent Office in 1889, all of his promotions having been obtained by competitive examinations. He at the same time studied law, taking the degree of LL.B.

† No response to repeated communications asking for information.

at the Columbian University Law School, and was admitted to the Bar of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia in 1884. He remained in the Patent Office until 1898, and during most of his term as Principal Examiner was in charge of the class of inventions relating more particularly to printing machinery and machinery for producing paper products. It is in connection with this class of machinery, therefore, that he is best known to the patent profession. He was also at various times, however, in charge of classes of invention relating to tobacco machinery, sewing machines and applied electricity. He resigned from the Patent Office in February, 1898, to become a member of the firm of Philipp, Phelps & Sawyer, 220 Broadway, New York. In 1900 the firm name was changed to Philipp, Sawyer, Rice & Kennedy. The firm makes a specialty of patent and trade-mark law. He married Miss Helen Eggleston Howd, at Pleasant Valley, Conn., September 18th, 1883, and has two children: a son, Welles Kennon, born January 1st, 1887, and a daughter, Dorothy Lee, born August 16th, 1888.

Address—220 Broadway, New York.

Charles Edward Richards was for some time a member of the firm of George H. Richards, Jr., & Co., Jewelers, 383 Washington Street, Boston, Mass. Ten years ago he moved to California and was for a number of years engaged in the cultivation of trees, shrubs and plants at Moreno, Riverside County. He recently invented some new methods in the way of treating and handling cement and plaster, and he is now manager of the Pacific Cement Water-Proofing Co., at Los Angeles. He married Miss Bertha W. Gray, at New Haven, Conn., June 5th, 1889, and has a son, Philip Hand, eight years old.

Address—331 Douglas Building, Los Angeles, Cal.

George Parker Richardson was with the Boston & Maine R. R. for eight years as Chief Clerk of Passenger Accounts and then became connected with the Atlas National Bank of Boston, where he is now Paying Teller. He married Miss Elizabeth Whittaker Decker, at Boston, September 16th, 1896. She died June 29th, 1899.

Address—Atlas National Bank, Boston, Mass.

Robert Mayo Rolfe taught for a number of years in Memphis, Tenn. He is now Principal of Trinidad High School, Trinidad, Colo. He married Miss Mattie Kerr, at Memphis, Tenn., December 24th, 1886. Their son, Robert Lawrence, was born December 6th, 1887.

Address—Trinidad, Colo.

John Rossiter, in the fall of 1882, began teaching in Williston Seminary, Easthampton, Mass., where he remained till May, 1883. Then he went to Windsor, Conn., where he had charge of the High School till the last of June of the next year, 1884. From there he went to Norwich, Conn., to become Principal of the Broadway

Grammar School of that city, and is still holding that position. He married Miss Eleanor G. Brown, at New Canaan, Conn., August 22d, 1883, and has two children: Ruth Frances, born March 28th, 1886, and John Harold, born October 30, 1896.

Address—77 Union Street, Norwich, Conn.

Benjamin Huger Rutledge studied law and was admitted to the bar in May, 1884, and entered upon the practice of his profession in the office of Rutledge & Young, Charleston, S. C. In 1884 he was appointed Electoral Messenger of the State of South Carolina. In January, 1885, he was elected Captain of the Carolina Rifles. In September, 1887, he was elected Major commanding 2d Battalion, 4th Brigade, S. C. V. T. On November 1st, 1887, he formed a partnership with his father for the practice of the law under the firm name of Rutledge & Rutledge, 45 and 47 Broad Street, Charleston, S. C. Since his father's death he has practiced alone at the same address. He was President of the City Democratic Convention, 1889. Member of Legislature till Tillman came to the front, when he refused a renomination, which was practically re-election. He says, "I have had some successes and some failures —experience teaches me that even in the profession the element of luck enters largely into the calculation. Bertie's expedient (in the "Henrietta") of tossing up the dollar applies equally to the law as to the stock exchange. I have won where least I expected, and lost when certain." He married Miss Emma Craig Blake, at Fletcher, N. C., October 5th, 1892, and has four children: Eleanor Middleton, born March 23d, 1894; Emma Blake, August 23d, 1897; Alice Weston, January 1st, 1899, and Benjamin Huger, Jr., January 11th, 1902.

Address—Charleston, S. C.

Daniel Sammis Sanford was for the first year after graduation Principal of the High School, at Oil City, Pa. The next year he was Mathematical Master at St. John's Military Academy, Sing Sing, N. Y. He was Principal of the High and Central Grammar Schools, at Stamford, Conn., from 1884 to 1891, and for the past eleven years has been Principal of the High School, at Brookline, Mass. He received the degree of M.A. from Yale in June, 1885. He spent the summer of 1885 in Germany, and the Sabbatical Year (1898-1899) was devoted to observation and study of foreign schools in Germany, France and England. He married Miss Annie Bennet Tomlinson (Wellesley, '93), at Shelton, Conn., July 7th, 1898, and has two children: Joseph Hudson, born June 28th, 1900, and Daniel Sammis, Jr., born April 4th, 1902.

Address—Brookline, Mass.

Arthur Scranton was for a number of years Assistant Superintendent of the Bessemer Steel Works, Scranton, Pa. Resigning his position, he spent several years in Europe, and is now connected with the Lackawanna

Steel Co., Buffalo, N. Y. He married Miss Mary D. McIlvaine, at St. Albans, Vt., October 15th, 1884, and has two children: John Walworth, born July 27th, 1885, and Marian, born July 4th, 1889.

Address—Care Lackawanna Steel Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Charles Locke Scudder studied for a year in the Sheffield Scientific School, and received the degree of Ph.B. in June, 1883. He then studied at the Harvard Medical School, receiving the degree of M.D. in June, 1888. He served one year and a half as House Surgeon at the Children's Hospital, Boston, and is now Senior Surgeon to Massachusettts General Hospital, Out Patient Department, and Assistant in Clinical and Operative Surgery in Harvard Medical School. He is also in private practice, at 189 Beacon Street, Boston. He is the author of "The Treatment of Fractures," a work published by W. B. Saunders & Co., Philadelphia, which is already (three years since publication) in its third edition, and he has also written various monographs upon medical and surgical subjects. In 1887 he received Boylston Prize of the Boylston Medical Society of Harvard University. He married Miss Abigail Taylor Seelye (daughter of President L. C. Seelye, of Smith College), at Northampton, Mass., September 5th, 1895, and has two children: Evarts Seelye, born September 5th, 1896, and Hilda, born February 7th, 1899.

Address—189 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.

Caleb Wright Shipley was for a while in the dry goods business with Shipley, Dorsey & Co., Cincinnati. He is now Vice-President and Secretary of Sechler & Co. (incorporated), Wholesale Carriage Builders, 538-544 East Fifth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio. He married Miss Charlotte H. Goshorn, at Cincinnati, June 22d, 1887, and has two daughters: Marguerita, born June 13th, 1888, and Alfreda, born August 27th, 1893.

Address—Risor Avenue, Clifton, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Levi Ives Shoemaker studied medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, and received the degree of M.D. in May, 1886. He was then for a year Resident Physician at the City Hospital, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. From October 1st, 1887, to May 1st, 1888, he served as Substitute in the Pennsylvania and University Hospitals, at Philadelphia. In May, 1888, he opened an office in Wilkes-Barre for the practice of his profession. He is Attending Physician to Wilkes-Barre City Hospital and to The Home for Friendless Children; also Consulting Physician to Mercy Hospital. He is a Director of the Second National Bank and of the Wilkes-Barre Lace Manufacturing Co. He married Miss Cornelia W. Scranton, at Scranton, Pa., November 27th, 1889.

Address—31 S. Franklin Street, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Charles Mather Sholes was a Loan Broker and Notary Public at Oswego, Kansas; also a Director in the First National Bank of Oswego. He married Miss Anna Electa Tucker, at Oswego, December 25th, 1884, and had two sons, Hiram 2d, born October 3d, 1885, and William Mather, born June 1st, 1888. He died August 7th, 1889, at Oswego, Kans., from heart disease. This was brought on just after he left college when he, with a friend, tramped through the White Mountains. In ascending Mt. Washington he fainted when near the summit and was carried to the hotel where he lay for several days, weak and exhausted with an overtaxed heart. He never fully regained his strength although during his last illness he was confined to his bed only ten days.

Although he did not join the class until the beginning of Sophomore year, he at once took a prominent place, and was held in the very highest regard by all.

Edward Vernon Silver, after graduation, entered the Sheffield Scientific School, taking the course in Physiological Chemistry, under Prof. Chittenden. The next fall he entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City, Medical Department of Columbia University. He was graduated in 1885, and passing the examinations into Roosevelt Hospital, began service there January, 1886. He says, "The work at the hospital was interesting, and the experience obtained very serviceable. Cragin and Brockway also did work in the hospital, the former being House Physician while I was House Surgeon." In November, 1888, he went abroad, going to Vienna and studying at that medical center for nearly a year. After traveling for some two months, he returned to New York and began practicing his profession at 103 West Seventy-second Street. The positions of Assistant Surgeon at Roosevelt Hospital, Out-Door Department, and Assistant Physician at the Vanderbilt Clinic were offered him and accepted.

After practicing two years an attack of la grippe obliged him to go south. The winter of 1890-91 he spent in Asheville, N. C., and the following summer in the Adirondacks, at Raquette Lake. In November, 1891, he turned his face westward, and settled in Salt Lake City, Utah, where he has practiced medicine ever since. In 1894 he was elected State President of the Utah Sunday School Association, and in 1895 was elected President of the Y. M. C. A., of Salt Lake City. During two years of this time he was a member of the Board of Health. At present he is a member of the State Medical Association, The Academy of Medicine, the Salt Lake County Medical Association and the Intermountain Medical Association. In connection with his professional work he is examiner for eight life insurance companies. He married Miss Bessie Larsen, April 3d, 1901, and has a son, Charles Alexander, born January 29th, 1902.

Address—Salt Lake City, Utah.

Lewis Mann Silver having determined, during his Senior year, to enter upon the study and practice of medicine, in the September following graduation matriculated at the Bellevue Hospital Medical College in New York, and on October 1st began the three years' course of prescribed study. In the first week of November he was taken ill with typhoid fever and was not able to resume his studies till the middle of January, 1883.

He says: "The years passed rapidly in close application to my work, and in March, 1885, I passed the examination for the degree of Doctor of Medicine, and a successful examination into Bellevue Hospital, choosing the medical side; I served in the position of Junior, Senior and House Physician (3rd medical). Having finished my hospital service of eighteen months on April 1st, 1887, on May 2d I sailed on the North German Lloyd line for Germany with the intention of studying in some of the medical centers of that country. My objective point was the German University at Freiberg. After a stay of two months I went to Munich and received the appointment of Resident Assistant to Professor Winckle in his Frauenklinik on the obstetrical side. After a five months' residence, I left Munich for Vienna where I spent the winter of 1887 in company with my brother, Edward V. Silver. Six months were spent in taking general courses in the hospital, which is one of the largest in Europe. From Vienna I went, April, 1888, to Frankfort to study Pathology with Professor Weigert. After visiting Berlin, Paris and London, I sailed for home, reaching New York in July, 1888. For the following six months I took the practice of my brother, Dr. Henry M. Silver, who went abroad for that period."

Early in 1889 he started out for himself in private practice and in the same year received the appointment of Assistant Demonstrator of Anatomy in the Bellevue Hospital Medical College, this he held until 1894. In 1891 he received the appointment of Attending Physician to Demilt Dispensary, Department of General Medicine, and of Attending Physician to the Vanderbilt Clinic, Department of Children, which position he still holds. October 25th, 1894, he married at Philadelphia Miss Roberta Shoemaker and has two daughters, Helen Mann, born September 28th, 1895, and Margaret Bird, born March 25th, 1897.

Address—103 West Seventy-second Street, New York City.

Clarence Austin Smith taught school for two years at the Cayuga Lake Military Acadamy, Aurora, N. Y. He then entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City, from which he was graduated in the spring of 1887. After competitive examination he received an appointment on the staff of Bellevue Hospital, remaining there till April, 1889. In that year he moved to Seattle, Wash., arriving six weeks before the great fire which destroyed the business portion of the city. From 1895 to 1898 he was a member of the Medical Examining Board for the State of Washington; for two years, Health Officer of Seattle, President of King County Medical Society and Attending Physician to Seattle General Hospital. In October, 1899, he moved to Elizabeth, N. J., practicing medicine there for six months. After another six months devoted to study he moved to Washington, D. C., where he practiced till March, 1902. A few months later he returned to Seattle and it is his intention to spend the remainder of his days there. Recently he was appointed editor of a new medical journal, "Northwest Medicine," published in Seattle. He was married July 2d, 1890, at Geneseo, N. Y., to Miss Susan C. Chichester. Children: Eunice Wakeley, born April 13th, 1891; Austin Chichester, April 22nd, 1893; Harriet Holbrook, May 17th, 1897, and Dwight Chichester, October 31st, 1900.

Address—120 Washington Bldg., Seattle, Wash.

Frank Hiram Snell was for a number of years a member of the firm of Albright & Co., Western and Southern Sales Agents of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Upon retiring from the firm he lived for a time in Washington, D. C.; was graduated from Columbian Law School in 1900 and admitted to the bar of the District of Columbia. He has, however, never practiced, and is now in active business in New Haven, being President of the Hygienic Ice Company. He married Miss Isabel Cromwell, October 16th, 1900.

Address—881 State Street, New Haven, Conn.

Henry Speke Snyder was graduated at the Yale Theological Seminary in May, 1885. He was pastor of a church in Northford, Conn., until April, 1888, when he was called to the Congregational Church of Williamsburgh, Mass., where he remained nine years. He was for a number of years in charge of the Union Church of Weymouth and Braintree, Mass., and is now pastor of the Congregational Church at Gilbertville, Mass. He married Miss Maria Louise Bradley, at New Haven, Conn., July 9th, 1883, and has four children: Elizabeth Glenn, born April 24th, 1884; Marian Louise, born June 14th, 1886; Henry Rossiter, born December 17th, 1888, and Justine Pratt, born March 12th, 1892.

Address—Gilbertville, Mass.

Charles Stillman traveled abroad for a while after graduation, and in January, 1883, started in business with Woodward & Stillman, General Commission Merchants, New York City, being admitted to the firm in 1889. He is a member of the University, N. Y. Yacht, Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht and Metropolitan Clubs. He is unmarried.

Address—16-22 William Street, New York.

Charles Bigelow Storrs during the year following graduation taught Latin and Greek in a private school on West Forty-third Street, New York City, pursuing at the same time the prescribed course of law studies at the Law School of Columbia College. The ensuing year he carried on the further study of law, and served a clerkship in the offices of Macfarland, Reynolds & Lowry. He was graduated from the Law School and admitted to the New York bar in 1884, and then became a clerk in the offices of Chamberlain, Carter & Hornblower. He stayed there till late in the year 1885, when he was engaged by the Japanese Government as Professor of Anglo-American Law in the Imperial University, at Tokyo. He remained at Tokyo till the year 1889, and then resumed the practice of law in New York City. He was elected a member of the New Jersey Legislature, and served in the sessions of 1894 and 1895, acting as leader of the Republican majority in the House of Assembly throughout the latter session. He was nominated by the Governor, and confirmed by the Senate, to be District Court Judge of Orange for five years, from April 1st, 1896, having been previously, in June, 1894, admitted as an Attorney and Counsellor-at-Law in New Jersey. He married Miss Gertrude Cleveland, at Orange, N. J., December 15th, 1897.

Address—333 Lincoln Avenue, Orange, N. J.

Howard Peck Sweetser is a member of the firm of Sweetser, Pembroke & Co., Wholesale Dry Goods, 374-378 Broadway, New York City. He resides at 37 West Fifty-eighth Street, and is a member of the University, N. Y. Athletic and Lotus Clubs. He is unmarried.

Address—374-378 Broadway, New York.

Bernard Titche studied law in the office of Gibson & Hall, New Orleans, La., the senior member of the firm being the Hon. Randall L. Gibson, U. S. Senator from Louisiana, and a graduate of the Class of '53, Yale. He was admitted to the bar in January, 1884, and has practiced continuously since that time in New Orleans, his offices being at present at 326-328 Hennen Building. He writes: "I have never taken any active part in politics, and consequently, have held no office; but have established a good practice, which has increased as the years rolled by." He married Miss Fanny Kaufman, at New Orleans, June 18th, 1890, and has one son, Bernard, Jr., born January 17th, 1895.

Address—326 and 328 Hennen Building, New Orleans.

William Grandin Vought is in the Manufacturers' and Traders' Bank, Buffalo, N. Y. He married Miss Natalie Blackmarr Sternberg, at Buffalo, June 19th, 1888.—[From the Sexennial Record.] †

Tracy Waller studied law in his father's office in New London, and became a member of the firm of T. M. & T. Waller. During his father's absence as U. S. Consul, at London, England, he was in partnership with John A. Tibbits, and later became senior member of the firm of Waller & Waller, with offices at 61 State Street, New London. He was for one term Prosecuting Attorney and for one term Corporation Counsel of the City of New London. He writes: "Since graduation I have been a resident of New London, Conn., except for a little more than a year, when I was in the wild west and on the high seas, engaged in various pursuits. I have been

† No response to repeated communications asking for information.

Major, Brigade Judge Advocate, C. N. G., but the country conducted the late war to a successful issue without my active services in the field. I am unmarried and without children."

Address—New London, Conn.

Daniel B. Weaver was graduated from the Medical School of the University of Pennsylvania, and received the degree of M.D. in 1885. He practiced at Lancaster, Pa., until the spring of 1890, when he removed to Salida, Colo., for his health. He died there of pulmonary tuberculosis, September 17th, 1891. He was Visiting Physician and Microscopist to St. Joseph's Hospital, and Lecturer on Anatomy, Physiology and Histology, in Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa. He married Miss Elizabeth A. White, at Philadelphia, October 20th, 1885, and had a daughter, Rebecca W., born July 28th, 1886.

Although, during his college days, his intimate friendships were limited in number, those who knew him well appreciated his sterling qualities. Though undemonstrative, he entertained strong convictions on whatever subject occupied his mind. His opinion having been formed on a matter of principle, it was useless to expect to alter his view.

While not a brilliant scholar he was one of those persistent students who could always be relied upon to present a high average in all that he undertook. This trait served to make him a success in his professional studies and later in the practice of medicine. His ambition to excel in many phases of medical life led to the too common practice of overwork that prepared the field for the entrance of tuberculosis.

After transferring his home to Colorado he continued doggedly at his work, with the expressed determination to fight to the end whether he or the enemy won. With this spirit he performed his daily duties regularly to the day before his death.

He possessed qualities that make men valuable in whatever community their life work may be placed and we cannot but regret that his was thus early ended when it had scarcely begun.

Edward Odell Weed was for some time Secretary of the Crescent Watch Case Co., and was located first in Chicago, and afterwards in Brooklyn. From 1887 to 1894 he was Treasurer of the Silver Creek and Morris Coal Co., 170 Dearborn Street, Chicago, Ill. In 1894 he moved to Gardena, Cal., and is now engaged in growing flower seeds. He writes: "Have chased no degrees and inflicted nothing in the literary line on the public." He married Miss Emma Cristie Ramsey, at Chicago, September 27th, 1884, and he has a daughter, Helen Brooks, born October 26th, 1886.

Address—Gardena, Los Angeles County, Cal.

Archibald Ashley Welch left college at end of Junior year and took a position with the Travelers' Insurance Company, at Hartford, Conn. In 1890-91 he studied at home by permission of the Faculty, and in June, 1891, passed the examinations, receiving the degree of A.B., with name entered in Class of '82. He is and has been for several years Actuary of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn. He has been elected annually a member of the Hartford High School Committee since 1898, and has been Chairman of that committee since 1900. He was made Director in the American School for the Deaf in 1890, and since 1894 has served as Secretary of the school. In 1890 he became a member of the Actuarial Society of America, and has served as Treasurer of the society since 1901. He married Miss Ellen Bunce, at Hartford, Conn., October 24th, 1889.

Address—21 Woodland Street, Hartford, Conn.

Martin Welles was for three years an Examiner in the U. S. Pension Office, Washington, D. C. He studied law at the same time, and received the degrees of LL.B. and M.L. at the Columbian Law School, Washington. For several years he was with the Title Guarantee and Trust Co., 55 Liberty Street, New York City. He is at the present time Treasurer of the Bond & Mortgage Guarantee Company, with offices at 146 Broadway, New York City, and 175 Remsen Street, Brooklyn. His residence is at Westfield, N. J., of which town he was the Treasurer for one year and a School Trustee for three years. He married Miss Mary Amelia Patton, at Washington, D. C., June 12th, 1888. Children: Martin Rice, born March 2d, 1889, died August 5th, 1895; Carolyn Aiken, born January 22d, 1892; Margaret Stanley, born June 9th, 1894; Mary Patton, born November 29th, 1897; Roger Patton, born June 1st, 1901.

Address—146 Broadway, New York.

John Lewis Wells studied for a short time in the Yale Law School. In the winter of 1882-3 he removed to Aberdeen, Dak., where he engaged in the real estate and loan business. In 1884 he settled at Ipswich, Dak., where he was President of the Edmunds County Bank until October, 1887, when he removed to Kansas City, Mo. He there resumed the study of law, and was admitted to the bar of the State of Missouri in March, 1888. He practiced in Kansas City for a few months, and then returned to Ipswich, Dak. Several years ago he returned East, and is now practicing law in New York, at 32 Nassau Street, a member of the firm of Sheehan & Collin. He married Miss Eleanore B. Fitch, at Freeport, Ill., November 14th, 1884, and he has a daughter: Marguerite F., born September 30th, 1885.

Address—32 Nassau Street, New York.

Thomas McDowell Wentworth died at his home in Racine, Wis., April 30th, 1882. He had battled with ill health all through his college course, and had reached the middle of Senior year before he was compelled to give up the struggle. The degree which he had made such a noble effort to obtain, but which he did not live to receive himself, was sent to his family after his death. [From the Triennial Record.]

*Joseph Ernest Whitney had charge of a small private school for boys at Elmira, N. Y., from September, 1882, until January, 1884. He then went to Albany, where he was professor of English and Rhetoric in the Albany Academy until July, 1884. In September, 1884, he became an instructor in English Literature at Yale. Four years later he was granted a leave of absence on account of his health, and he made his home in Colorado Springs, Colo. It was, however, too late, and although he struggled hard and patiently he was unable to regain the strength necessary for a return to his college work.

Besides teaching he devoted himself to the study of English Literature and to writing. He was a contributor to " The Century," " The American Magazine," " St. Nicholas," " Harper's Young People," " Wide Awake," " Critic," " New Englander," and many other periodicals. He married Miss Sadie Prince Turner, at Syracuse, N. Y., November 15th, 1883, and died of tuberculosis in Colorado Springs, Colo., on February 25th, 1893, leaving a daughter, Margaret, born April 13th, 1886. He was buried on his thirty-third birthday, February 27th, 1893.

During the last four years of his life, under infirmities of body to which most men would have succumbed in absolute idleness, he kept on heroically at his literary work, and the poems he wrote then, as well as the unfailing brightness of his conversation and his letters, have been, for many, an inspiration to better living.

His struggle with disease did not make him bitter, and his cheerfulness and wit never deserted him. He interested himself in social betterment, and a Boys' Club, named after him, still exists in Colorado Springs, as a memorial. But more enduring than any such institution, is the memorial which lives in the hearts of the many, East and West, who came under the influence of his rich and ever ripening personality.

Charles Albert Wight studied theology at the Yale Theological Seminary, and was ordained pastor of the Harper Avenue Congregational Church, Detroit, Mich., May 19th, 1885. Since that time he has held several important pastorates, and is now in charge of one of the leading Congregational churches in Wisconsin—the Congregational Church, of Platteville. He is the Vice-President of the Wisconsin Home Missionary Society and a member of its Executive Committee. He married Miss Charlotte M. Burgis, at Detroit, Mich., June 1st, 1886. They have had two children: Winifred, born July 28th, 1894, died June 4th, 1898, and Elliott Leland, born March 8th, 1897.

Address—Platteville, Wis.

Harry Lucien Williams is with the Williams Manufacturing Co., Makers of Baskets, Northampton, Mass. He is a Director in the Northampton National Bank and President of Nonotuck Savings Bank. He is a veteran of the Spanish War, having served throughout with great credit to himself and to the class. Unfortunately, he was the only representative of '82. His war record is as follows: Enlisted May 3d, 1898, as Captain of Company I, Second Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteers, left camp at South Framingham, Mass., May 12th. Went by rail from New York to Lakeland, Fla., May 14th; from Lakeland to Tampa, May 31st. Sailed from Tampa, June 14th. Landed at Baiquiria, June 22d. In battle of El Caney, July 1st, but took no active part, as the regiment was ordered to stop firing, owing to smoke from black powder used in rifles. Under fire nearly all day. To San Juan, but took no active part, as the Brigade acted as support. No fighting after San Juan. Camped for five weeks within 500 yards of the city. Taken ill with Cuban fever, July 27th. Broke camp, August 12th. Sailed for home on the "Mobile," August 13th; landed at Montauk Point, August 20th. Given sick leave of ten days. Mustered out of the service of the United States, November 3d, 1898. Previous to the war was elected Captain of Company I, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, December 13th, 1892. Served continuously until December 14th, 1898, when he resigned, and was discharged from Massachusetts State Militia. He was appointed Lieutenant-Colonel and Assistant Inspector-General on Staff of Governor Crane in January, 1900, and is still serving in that capacity.

He married Miss Isabella Hall Dewey, of Boston, May 28th, 1884.

Address—Northampton, Mass.

Emmet Smith Williams was with the Travelers' Insurance Co., at Hartford, Conn., until shortly before his death, which occurred January 13th, 1886. In the October previous, while at Hartford, he had a hemorrhage of the lungs, but in November he had recovered sufficiently to return to his home in Meriden, where he was thought to be gaining, until very shortly before his death, which was sudden and at the time unexpected.

His death was a great shock to his classmates, among whom he was a universal favorite. He had a happy faculty of making everybody his friend, and his cheerful disposition and genial manner made him thoroughly popular with all who knew him, both in college and afterwards in business. He was so prominent in the social life of the class, that he will be very greatly missed at all the future reunions.—[From the Sexennial Record.]

Franklin Eldred Worcester studied engineering in the Sheffield Scientific School, and received the degrees of Ph.B., June, 1884, and of M.E., June, 1886. In July, 1883, he went abroad and traveled for six months. In 1885 he entered the shops of the Michigan Central R. R., at Jackson, Mich., where he remained for two years; then for a short time he was fireman on the Michigan Central, and also on the New York Central R. R. In February, 1888, he became Assistant Superintendent of motive power of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Railroad Company, in the northern peninsula of Michigan. His office was at Marquette, Mich., and he resided in that city for nearly two years, until January 24, 1890. His place with the railroad company proved to be unpromising, and in July, 1889, he resigned it; and, until such time as he should fix himself elsewhere, he accepted the position, under the Federal Government, of inspector of breakwaters, his residence being still at Marquette. He made a long visit to his home in New York (to which city his father's family had removed in 1883), and was there from October 12, to December 6, 1889. During this visit, he went more than once to New Haven, and had what proved to be his last look, save for a brief call in the succeeding summer, at Yale and his college friends in the East.

He returned to Marquette in December, 1889. He had formed a connection with the Iron Bay Company, manufacturers of mining machinery, which had at that time its office in Marquette. This company engaged Worcester to act as its general sales-agent. In January, 1890, it moved its offices to Duluth, whither he accompanied them. He lived in Duluth until the end of June, 1890, and during this time he traveled extensively in Wisconsin, Minnesota and that general region. He paid another visit to his home in New York for about five days, from June 20 to June 26, 1890. At that time the Iron Bay Company made him their general agent for the Montana region, with headquarters at Helena, Montana; and he accepted, at the same time, a similar agency for the Robinson & Cary Manufacturing Company, of St. Paul. He arrived in Helena August 4th, 1890, and soon after established his office at 3 Gold Block, in that city. There he lived until the time of his death, in the succeeding March. He was very actively engaged in his business, and had occasion to travel as far as the Pacific Coast, where he made an extensive visit in January, 1891.

In December, 1890, he sent to his family a small photograph of himself, the last which he ever had taken. He had relatives who lived in Helena, in whose company he found great comfort, and at whose house he spent much of his leisure time. Among other places which he had frequent occasion to visit, was Butte City, Mont. He went there, on some call of business, in the latter part of February, 1891. The weather was inclement, and he, who had always been of a robust constitution which mocked at exposure, incurred a severe chill. As was afterwards learned by his family, a genuine epidemic of pneumonia, of a peculiarly virulent type, was then prevalent at Butte City. He returned to Helena with a cold, to which he paid little attention at first. Pneumonia appeared almost at once. The case was probably beyond hope from the beginning. He put himself under medical treatment, but, with strong confidence in his physical force, he refused to permit any word of his condition to be sent to his parents. He was ill only a few days. On the 3rd day of March, 1891, his relatives in Helena telegraphed to his parents that he was very ill of pneumonia. This was the first word which had reached them that gave any notice that he was in other than his usual vigorous health. About four hours later came a second telegram saying he was dead. He died at Helena, Mont., March 3rd, 1891, at 5.30 in the afternoon. He had reached the age of 30 years, 5 months, and 19 days. His remains were brought east to New York, and there, at his father's house, 23 East Thirty-ninth Street, his funeral was held on the 14th of March, 1891. It was attended by a large number of his classmates and the religious services were conducted by Brewster. The body was interred in the Albany Rural Cemetery, Albany, N. Y., in his father's lot, and its resting place is marked by a tombstone.

Throughout these closing years of his life, his general health was of the best, and he had every reason to look forward to a long and active life. He retained to the end his love for the East and its associations; and amid the hard and practical work of his Western experience, he continued his own intellectual life, building as best he might on the foundation of his university days. He had no premonition of his untimely cutting-off, and he worked cheerfully and heartily until the call of death.

He was a member of the University Club of New York City, and of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers; and also of the Masonic fraternity. He was never married.

His career was full of promise, and his death was a shock to all who knew and loved him. There was a singular charm about him which will ever linger in the memory. The keenness of his intellect was matched by the directness of his purpose. When a decision was made he did not swerve from his aim. The depth of his inner life was hidden under an easy grace of manner. No one was more free from cant, more straightforward in speech, nor more ready with the tactful, kindly word in season.

Arthur Bethuel Wright was graduated from the Yale Law School, and admitted to the bar in June, 1884. He was junior member of the firm of Wright, Stoddard, Thompson & Wright, until 1886, when the firm was dissolved, owing to the death of his father, the Hon. Dexter R. Wright. He was for some time in the office of Hon. Lynde Harrison, New Haven, Conn., and he is now practicing his profession in Chicago, as a member of the firm of Steere & Furber, with offices in " The Rookery." He is unmarried.

Address—The Rookery, Chicago, Ill.

NON-GRADUATES.

In accordance with the plan adopted for the Sexennial Record only those are included who were members of the class for more than one year:

John Lanson Adams left the class in Sophomore year, and afterwards was graduated with the class of 1883. He then entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, from which he was graduated with the degree of M.D., in 1886. He is Attending Surgeon to the New York Eye and Ear Infirmary, Founder and Executive Surgeon to the St. Bartholomew's Night Clinic for Diseases of the Ear, Eye, Nose and Throat, Ophthalmologist to the Society of the New York Lying-in Asylum. He married Miss Elizabeth Ellerslie Wallace at New York, June 4th, 1895, and has a son, Frank Lanson, born April 25th, 1896.

Address—24 East Forty-sixth Street, New York.

Henry Weldon Barnes left college during Senior year on account of ill health, hoping to rejoin his class and receive his degree with them—a hope destined never to be fulfilled. He failed rapidly for some months and, as a last resort, was taken to Colorado. Gaining nothing by the change he returned to his home in Pittsburgh, where he died of consumption on December 4th, 1882.

He was so prominent among us throughout our college course, and bound to so many of us by such strong ties of friendship, that his death, the first since graduation to be placed upon the records of the class, has been very deeply felt. [From the Triennial Record.]

John Remsen Bishop entered the class at the beginning of Sophomore year, and left at the end of Junior year to enter the Senior class at Harvard, where he was graduated in 1882. He then taught for a year at St. Paul's School, at Concord, N. H. In 1883 he accepted a position in the New Jersey State Bureau of Statistics, at Trenton, N. J., where he remained for one year. He then at the solicitation of Dr. McCosh, took hold of the defunct Princeton Preparatory School, with a view to resuscitation. The trustees deeded the school property to him, and he met with great success in his attempt to revive the institution. The school grew and prospered until he found the management of it too burdensome, so he sold out his title and good will, and bought one-half of an established Day School in Cincinnati, O., to which place he removed in the summer of 1888. He is now principal of Walnut Hills High School, Cincinnati. He married Miss Anna Bartram Newbold, at Trenton, N. J., July 9th, 1885, and has five children, Newbold and Mildred Rem-sen (twins), born April 8th, 1888; Remsen and Bartram (twins), born July 11th, 1890, and Francis, Born September 20th, 1896.

Address—117 Huntington Place, Cincinnati, O.

Charles Winslow Burpee left the class in Sophomore year. He afterwards was graduated with the class of 1883, and became city editor of the Waterbury (Conn.) American. After eight years he became associate editor of the Bridgeport (Conn.) Standard. He filled that position for four years and since that time has been State Editor of the Hartford Courant. He has held five commissions at different times in three different regiments, Connecticut National Guard, retiring in June, 1897, with rank of Captain. November 5th, 1885, he married Miss Bertha Stiles at Bridgeport, Conn.

Address—19 Forest Street, Hartford, Conn.

Robert Camp left college on account of ill health early in Sophomore year. He then engaged at first in stock raising on a small scale, near Peabody, Kansas. In 1882 he purchased a large ranch about twelve miles from Peabody. He lived on his ranch and devoted himself exclusively to sheep and cattle raising and wool growing, until February, 1886, when he removed to Peabody, and there with W. H. Ellett organized the Stockmen's Exchange Bank. He is now living in Milwaukee, Wis., and is Secretary and Treasurer of The Milwaukee Trust Company at 404 East Water Street. He married Miss Mary Cobb Ball, at Milwaukee, Wis., August 5th, 1886, and has two children, Carolyn Mary, born January 10th, 1889, and Marion Merrill, born June 30th, 1892.

Address—684 Franklin Place, Milwaukee, Wis.

Charles Blackwell Case left college at the close of Junior year and spent the next three years in the study of law with Ex-Judge James Buchanan in Trenton, N. J. He then formed a partnership with Samuel Walker, Jr., the firm being known as Case & Walker, Law and Real Estate Brokers. In 1886 the firm was dissolved and a new one created, Gardner H. Cain becoming associated with him in the business. The firm name is now Case & Cain, Law and Real Estate, corner State and Warren Streets, Trenton, N. J. As a side issue the firm gives considerable attention to a large farm just outside the city, paying particular attention to the breeding of thoroughbred Guernsey cattle. He married Miss Florence N. Case, at Trenton, April 9th, 1890. They have two sons, Charles Blackwell, Jr., born March 26th, 1892, and Arthur Ellicott, born April 11, 1894.

Address—Trenton, N. J.

Robert Browning Corey left college in Sophomore year. The year following he was associated with his father in the banking business, at Bradford, Pa. He was then for three years an oil producer and speculator. The next year he traveled for U. H. Dudley & Co., Wholesale Grocery and Commission Merchants, New York City. After that he was for two years Secretary of Schools, at the Elmira State Reformatory. In 1887 he went into the electrical business as General Manager of a company manufacturing arc lamps and other electrical specialties, and he held that position for eight years. Since 1895 he has been the New York representative of a number of electrical manufacturing companies, the lines consisting of wire and cable for electrical purposes, incandescent lamps, arc lamps and conduits. He is unmarried.

Address—26 Cortlandt Street, New York.

Charles Gibbons Douw left college early in Junior year. Since then he has engaged in civil engineering, and has been employed on the West Shore R. R., the New York State Canals, and the New Croton Aqueduct. In 1887 he suffered a stroke of paralysis, from the effects of which he did not recover for several years.

In 1892, for the first time since his illness, he did a little superintending of paving and other matters in the line of his profession. For several years he has been at work on the Erie Canal Improvement. He has never married.

Address—Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Chauncey Milton Griggs left the class in Junior year. He afterwards was graduated with the class of 1883. He then became a member of the firm of Glidden, Griggs & Co., Wholesale Grocers, St. Paul, Minn. In 1884, on account of ill health, he traveled in the South and in Europe for some time. On April 1st, 1885, the firm name was changed to Yanz, Griggs & Howes, and in 1890 the present firm of Griggs, Cooper & Co. was formed. They are doing business at the old stand, but have expanded considerably, occupying now the whole of the block, of which they occupied formerly about one-third. Their store is 175 feet front by 180 deep and six stories in capacity, all of which is devoted to their business. They have 30 salesmen on the road and a house force of about 100, including 30 employees in their manufacturing department. They cover the northwestern half of Wisconsin, northern part of Iowa, all of Minnesota, the two Dakotas, Montana and the eastern part of Washington, and claim to be doing the largest business in their line west of Chicago.

He writes: "In a social way I have done my share, having been connected with all the local clubs. I am a member of the Minnesota Club, the Town and Country Club, the Driving Club, White Bear Yacht Club, Commercial Club, Chamber of Commerce and the Jobbers Union. The last three, of course, are purely commercial institutions, the others being social bodies, although I might class the White Bear Yacht Club under the head of a sporting organization. In that line I have not only been a yachtsman, but am an active member of the St. Paul Curling Club, St. Paul Gun Club and the Minnesota Boat Club, a very strong social organization as well as a fine athletic club. As an oarsman I have never been a distinct success, as you can well imagine, but as a yachtsman I have perhaps achieved more distinction than as a business man I would wish for. I have sailed the Champion Yacht on White Bear Lake for about six seasons during the last ten."

He married Miss Mary Chaffee Wells at Pittsburgh, Pa., October 15th, 1885. They have five children: Calvin Wells, born November 15th, 1886; Milton Wright, born November 13th, 1888; Mary Wells, born April 22nd, 1892; Everett Billings, born October 17th, 1895; Benjamin Glyden, born January 1st, 1898.

Address—Care Griggs, Cooper & Co., St. Paul, Minn.

George Edward Haskell left college at the end of Junior year and entered the establishment of Abram French & Co., Importers of Crockery, China and Glassware, 89, 91 and 93 Franklin Street, Boston, Mass. He was a member of that firm and afterwards a director in the stock company of Abram French & Co., for thirteen years until January 1st, 1893. He was for a short time connected with a trade journal published in Boston, but is now living in New Bedford not engaged in active business. He spent several years in Europe with headquarters at Dresden, Germany, traveling in England, Belgium, Germany, France, Austria and Italy. He married Miss Blanche Lindamon Jones, at Chicago, December 31st, 1885, and has three children: Margaret, born in Brookline, Mass., July 6th, 1887; Helen Louisa, born in Brookline, Mass., July 9th, 1891, and George Starkweather, born in Dresden (Saxony), Jan. 31, 1897.

Address—Wamsutta Club, New Bedford, Mass.

James Smith Havens left the class on account of ill health in the middle of Sophomore year. He spent the following summer in Colorado, and was then for a year in business at Weedsport, N. Y. In January, 1882, he entered the class of 1884, at Yale, with which he was graduated. He afterwards studied law in Rochester, N. Y., and was admitted to the bar in October, 1886, and became a member of the law firm of Foote & Havens of that city. He married Miss Caroline Prindle Sammons at Rochester, January 16th, 1894. They have two children, Lucy Prindle, born October 21st, 1894, and Mary Eleanor, born January 30th, 1897.

Address—12 Rochester Savings Bank Bldg., Rochester, N. Y.

David Kinley left the class in Junior year, and after the lapse of a year went to Louisiana as a private tutor. In 1882 he joined the class of 1884, Yale, and was graduated with it. He was for several years principal of the High School at North Andover, Mass., and is now Professor of Economics and Dean of College of Literature and Arts, University of Illinois. He is the author of "The Independent Treasury of the United States," and sundry magazine articles. He married Miss Kate R. Neal, at Mount Vernon, Ohio, June 22nd, 1897, and has one child, Harriet, born October 3rd, 1898.

Address—University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

Tun Yen Liang was recalled by the Chinese Government in Junior year. He was then sent to the Government School of Telegraphy, at Tientsin. He has since been in the Government service. He is at present with His Excellency Chang Chih-tung, Viceroy of Hu-Kwang, at Wuchang.

Address—Viceroy's Yamen, Care of China Merchants' Steam Navigation Co., Hankow, China.

George Brooke Miller left college on account of ill health in the early part of Sophomore year. He was at his home in Sandy Spring, Md., until 1882, when he accepted a position in the St. Louis branch house of Hull, Clarke & Co., of Boston, Manufacturers of Iron and Wood-working Machinery, and Steam and Gas Engines. He had attained the position of Manager of the house when in July, 1885, he was stricken with paralysis, which was caused by getting overheated at tennis. The two years following he spent at Sandy Spring, Md., and at Clifton Springs, N. Y., in an effort to regain his health. In June, 1887, he resumed his former position in St. Louis, with Hull, Clarke & Co., where he remained until March, 1888, when he accepted the position of Principal of Sherwood Academy, at Sandy Spring, Md., where he now is. [From Sexennial Record.]†

George Wells Morrison left the class in Sophomore year. He was then connected with the Conn. Mutual

† No response to repeated communications asking for information.

Life Ins. Co., in their office at Hartford, for five years. He severed his connection with that company, and was for some time at his home in Thompsonville, Conn., contemplating engaging in some other business. He was married on February 21st, 1888, and shortly afterwards contracted a severe cold, from which he never recovered, but rapidly declined, and died July 17th, 1888. His former classmates will hear of his death with great regret, for although he was with us but a portion of our college course, he was a member of the class long enough to make many friends among its members. [From the Sexennial Record.]

*Walter Gillespie Phelps left the class at the end of Sophomore year. In the spring of 1881 he entered the service of the Burlington & Missouri River R. R. Co., in Nebraska, as civil engineer. He continued in the employ of that company until a short time before his death, which occurred at Hartford, Conn., November 18th, 1887, and was caused by a severe cold contracted while at field work, and terminated in consumption. He married Miss Grace H. Goodell, of Hartford, December 9th, 1885, and he had a son, Dwight G. Phelps, born June 8th, 1887.

His early death will be hard for his classmates to realize. They remember him as a man of strong physique, an athlete and a member of the class crew. At the time of leaving college he had attained a prominent position in the class, and all of its members will hear of his death with sorrow. [From the Sexennial Record.]

Edward Pascal Pratt left the class in Sophomore year. He was in the hardware business in Des Moines, Iowa, for several years, and is now in business in Kansas City, Mo., dealing in Commercial Paper, Stocks, Bonds and Real Estate Loans.

Address—New York Life Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.

Henry Byron Sanderson left the class in Sophomore year, and immediately engaged in the milling business in Milwaukee, going into the Phœnix Mills, E. Sanderson & Co., Proprietors. He began, he says, by "sweeping out the mill," and worked his way up to the position of head miller, and was then taken into the firm. He is still in the Phœnix Mills, and they are turning out seventeen hundred and fifty barrels of flour a day. He married Miss Alice Bartel Kane, at Milwaukee, January 5th, 1881. On January 19th, 1882, his wife died, leaving him with a daughter, Alice Kane Sanderson. From that time until 1887 he traveled a good deal in this country and in Europe. On September 8th, 1887, he married Miss Clarice Follansbee. [From Sexennial Record.]†

William Seymour left college in the latter part of Junior year. He was then for a time cashier in the office of Henry M. Cowles, Banker and Broker, Wall Street, New York City. In December, 1882, he accepted a position as traveling salesman for Hincks & Johnson, Manufacturers of Carriages, at Bridgeport, Conn. He remained with that firm until January 1st, 1887, when he became General Western Selling Agent for Cruttenden & Co., of New Haven, Conn., Manufacturers of Carriages, and assumed charge of their western establishment at 341 to 345 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill. He married Miss Katherine W. Camp, at Newington, Conn., November 17th, 1887. [From the Sexennial Record.]†

† No response to repeated communications asking for information.

Edward Eugene Smith left the class in Junior year. Not long afterwards he was stricken with chronic mental derangement, for which he has since been under treatment. [From the Sexennial Record.]

Will Loujeay Van Kirk left college early in Junior year. He then engaged in business with Long & Co., Iron Manufacturers, Pittsburgh, Pa. At the expiration of two years he severed his connection with that firm and established himself as an oil broker. He remained in that business for two years and then retired. He has since devoted himself to his investments and the care of his property. He married Miss Elizabeth V. Long, at Allegheny City, June 16th, 1887, and afterwards traveled abroad for some time. [From the Sexennial Record.]†

† No response to repeated communications asking for information.

Resolutions on the death of Fred J. Brockway, passed by the Class of '82, Yale University, at the meeting held in New Haven, Conn., during the Bicentennial celebration.

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God, in His omnipotent wisdom, to remove from among us on the twenty-first day of April, 1901, our beloved classmate, Dr. Fred J. Brockway, now, be it

Resolved, That we recognize in him the highest type of man, as husband, father and comrade, and that we further recognize in his sterling worth and ability the bright prospects of a successful professional life now ended, as the result of his devotion to duty; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution, with the expression of our deep sympathy, be sent by the Secretary to our classmate's family.

HOWARD H. KNAPP,
LEWIS M. SILVER,
HENRY B. PLATT.

STATISTICS

OCCUPATIONS.

Clergymen—Brewster, *Hand, Lay, McKnight, Morris, Snyder, Wight—7.

Lawyers—Atterbury, Badger, Bates, Beach, Bentley, Blumley, Boltwood, Brinton, Bronson, *Campbell, Cumming, Ely, French, *Fries, Griggs, Hawkes, Holland, J. P. Kellogg, Kittredge, Knapp, Loomis, McBride, *Murphy, Osborne, Page, Palmer, Pardee, Parke, Rice, Rutledge, Storrs, Titche, Waller, Wells, Wright—35.

Physicians—*Brockway, Cragin, Eaton, Foster, C. B. Graves, Jefferds, Kingman, Lewis, Lowe, Scudder, Shoemaker, E. V. Silver, L. M. Silver, Smith, *Weaver—15.

Teachers—Abbott, Barbour, Bartlett, Bruce, Chenault, Foote, Ford, Lovering, O'Hanlon, Pratt, Rolfe, Rossiter, Sanford, *Whitney—14.

Business (Manufacturing and Mercantile)—J. F. Allen, M. S. Allen, Bailey, Baltz, Bate, Beede, Darling, Dillingham, Farwell, Friend, Gallaher, Gardes, Hebard, F. A. Kellogg, Long, Lyman, Macmillan, Moodey, Parsons, Pember, Platt, Richards, Scranton, Shipley, Snell, Stillman, Sweetser, *Worcester, H. L. Williams—29.

Banking—Clement, Hopkins, Richardson, Vought, Welles—5.

Insurance—Welch, *E. S. Williams—2.

Art—Fitz Gerald—1.

Broker—*Sholes—1.

STATISTICS

Chemist—G. H. Graves—1.

Electrical Engineer—Pierce—1.

Horticulture—Weed—1.

Journalism—Churchill—1.

Meteorology—*Curtis—1.

Public Service—Bennett—1.

None—Billings, *Cuyler, Eno, *Johnson, Pollock, *Wentworth—6.

COMPARATIVE TABLE OF OCCUPATIONS SINCE GRADUATION.

	Class Statistics.	Triennial.	Sexennial.	Vicennial.
Theology	4	6	5	7
Law	38	34	32	35
Medicine	17	15	15	15
Teaching	8	13	13	14
Business	29	33	38	37
Ranching		3	1
Farming		2	2
Civil Engineering	1
Mechanical Engineering	1	1	1
Electrical Engineering		1	1	1
Chemistry	1	1	1	1
Art		1	1	1
Paleontology		1	1
Meteorology		1	1	1
Journalism			1	1
U. S. Patent Office		1	1
U. S. Pension Office		1
Travel and Study		2
Student of Theology			1
Student of Electricity			1
Public Service				1
Horticulture				1
Undecided	20
None		3	3	6
	119	119	119	121

STATISTICS

RESIDENCES.

New York City and Vicinity—M. S. Allen, Atterbury, Bate, Churchill, Cragin, Dillingham, Ely, Foote, Hawkes, F. A. Kellogg, Lewis, Lyman, McBride, Moodey, Palmer, Parsons, Platt, Pollock, Rice, L. M. Silver, Stillman, Storrs, Sweetser, Welles, Wells—25.
New Haven, Conn.—Billings, Loomis, Osborne, Pardee, Snell—5.
Chicago, Ill.—Abbott, Bates, Bentley, Farwell, Ford, Page, Pierce, Wright—8.
Boston, Mass.—Badger, French, Richardson, Scudder—4.
Buffalo, N. Y.—Clement, Scranton, Vought—3.
New Orleans, La.—Friend, Gardes, Titche—3.
Philadelphia, Pa.—Baltz, Brinton—2.
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—Long, Shoemaker—2.
Cincinnati, O.—Macmillan, Shipley—2.
Bridgeport, Conn.—G. H. Graves, Knapp—2.
Hartford, Conn.—Pember, Welch—2.
Norwich, Conn.—Blumley, Rossiter—2.
New London, Conn.—C. B. Graves, Waller—2.
Waterbury, Conn.—Bronson, J. P. Kellogg—2.

The above are the cities in which two or more members of the class reside. The others are distributed as follows:

Massachusetts—Bruce, Lowe, McKnight, Sanford, Snyder, H. L. Williams—6.
Connecticut—J. F. Allen, Eno, Gallaher, Morris—4.
New York—Bartlett, Darling, Hopkins, Lovering—4.
Colorado—Brewster, Holland, Rolfe—3.
California—Richards, Weed—2.
Kentucky—Bennett, Chenault—2.
Michigan—Boltwood, Hebard—2.
New Hampshire—Beede, Lay—2.
Pennsylvania—Bailey, Parke—2.
Rhode Island—Eaton, Kingman—2.
Washington—Griggs, Smith—2.
Wisconsin—Pratt, Wight—2.
Georgia—Cumming—1.
Minnesota—Foster—1.
Nebraska—Barbour—1.
New Jersey—O'Hanlon—1.
Oregon—Jefferds—1.
South Carolina—Rutledge—1.
South Dakota—Kittredge—1.
Utah—E. V. Silver—1.
Washington, D. C.—Beach—1.
Paris, France—Fitzgerald—1.

STATISTICS

DEATHS.

Thomas McDowell Wentworth.....April 30, 1882

Theodore De Witt Cuyler.....January 1, 1883

Barclay Johnson.....April 21, 1885

Emmett Smith Williams.....January 13, 1886

Harry Chambers Fries.....July 14, 1886

Charles Mather Sholes.....August 7, 1889

James Alexander Campbell.....July 13, 1890

Franklin Eldred Worcester.....March 3, 1891

Daniel B. Weaver.....September 17, 1891

Alfred Chapman Hand.....March 13, 1892

Joseph Ernest Whitney.....February 25, 1893

George Edward Curtis.....February 3, 1895

Walter Murphy.....February 5, 1897

Fred John Brockway.....April 21, 1901

Non-Graduates.

Henry Weldon Barnes.....December 4, 1882

Walter Gillespie Phelps.....November 18, 1887

George Wells Morrison.....July 17, 1888

Graduates—14. Non-Graduates—3.

STATISTICS

MARRIAGES.

Abbott—Jane Harrison, New Haven, Conn.....June 21, 1888
Allen, J F.—Cornelia Parker Breese, Meriden, Conn.,
November 2, 1893
Atterbury—Emma H. Baker, East Orange, N. J...November 17, 1892
Badger—Elizabeth Hand Wilcox, New Haven, Conn.,
October 6, 1887
Baltz—Mary Hart Welling, New York.....April 23, 1901
Barbour—Margaret Roxanna Lamson, New Haven, Conn.,
December 6, 1887
Bartlett—Mary Kate Hayward, Warsaw, N. Y.....December 25, 1883
Bate—Irene Sharp, Brooklyn, N. Y.....December 7, 1887
Bates—Minnie L. Couch, Gaylordsville, Conn.....September 21, 1886
Beach—Elizabeth Grayson Carter, Oaklands, Va..December 25, 1893
Beede—Martha B. Melcher, Laconia, N. H.....April 15, 1901
Bennett—Mary Winston Warfield, Lexington, Ky...February 18, 1886
Bentley—Elizabeth King, Chicago, Ill.....January 8, 1889
Billings—Mary Elizabeth Alden, New Haven, Conn., March 27, 1884
Boltwood—Mary Gernon Rice, Grand Rapids, Mich.,
September 1, 1891
Brewster—Stella Yates, New York City.....June 10, 1891
Brinton—Lina S. Ives, New Haven, Conn.....April 25, 1893
*Brockway—Marian L. Turner, Mt. Savage, Md..November 25, 1891
Bronson—Helen Adams Norton, Brooklyn, N. Y.....March 26, 1889
Bruce—Mary Emily Skinner, New Haven, Conn.....April 3, 1883
Chenault—Bettie Baker Bronston, Richmond, Ky.....July 17, 1883
Churchill—Llewella Pierce, New York.....August 14, 1889
Clement—Caroline Jewett Tripp, Buffalo, N. Y.....March 27, 1884
Cragin—Mary R. Willard, Colchester, Conn.....May 23, 1889
Cumming—Mary G. Smith, Summerville, Ga.....November 29, 1889
Eaton—Emily Tirzah Parks, Medford, Mass.....November 25, 1885
Ely—Emma Stotsenburg, New Albany, Ind.....June 8, 1886
Eno—Alice Rathbone, New Orleans, La.....April 4, 1883
Farwell—Fanny N. Day, Chicago, Ill.....May 19, 1887
Fitzgerald—Sybil Mary Winifred Wyndham, Florence, Italy,
March, 1894
Ford—Hattie W. Downs, Milford, Conn.....September 18, 1889
Foster—Sophie Vernon Hammond, St. Paul, Minn...January 1, 1894
French—Elizabeth Ambrose Wales, Randolph, Mass.,
December 13, 1887

Friend—Ida Weis, New Orleans, La.....March 19, 1890
Gardes—Lucie Wiltz, New Orleans, La.....November 7, 1888
Graves, C. B.—Frances Manwaring Miner, New London, Conn., September 10, 1891
Graves, G. H.—Mary Caroline Goodsell, Bridgeport, Conn., January 17, 1901
*Hand—Sara Lord Avery, Mansfield, Ohio.....June 27, 1888
Hawkes—Julia A. Burrell, New York.....January 21, 1890
Hebard—Hannah J. Morgan, Cleveland, Ohio....September 30, 1885
Holland—Florence Olmstead Ward, Denver, Colo.....June 3, 1891
Hopkins—Mary Howland Pell, New York.....April 21, 1887
Kellogg, F. A.—Carolyn F. Kilbourne, New York.....June 4, 1900
Kellogg, J. P.—Clara Mason, Bridgeport, Conn.....June 1, 1892
Kingman—Fanny A. Terry, New Bedford, Mass..November 19, 1889
(Died December 29, 1889.)
Mary T. Cheever, Portsmouth, N. H.....July 6, 1898
Knapp—Emily Hale Perkins, Hartford, Conn.....February 9, 1888
Lay—Anna Booth Balch, Baltimore, Md.....June 26, 1894
Loomis—Catharine Canfield Northrop, New Haven, Conn., April 20, 1892
Lovering—Eva Augusta Archer, New Rochelle, N. Y..August 5, 1885
Lowe—Amelia F. Robbins, Arlington, Mass.....December 16, 1887
McBride—Anna Truax Thurber, New York.....November 24, 1896
McKnight—Jennie Louisa Weed, New Haven, Conn....May 19, 1886
Macmillan—Alice Robinson, Brooklyn, N. Y.....September 16, 1899
Moodey—Helen Antoinette Paine, Painesville, Ohio....July 12, 1883
*Murphy—Emma Benson Purves, Philadelphia, Pa., September 20, 1889
O'Hanlon—Lida Lillagore, Ocean Grove, N. J.....December 27, 1882
Page—Gertrude M. Swenson, Chicago, Ill.....July 2, 1895
Palmer—Mary Eagle, Brooklyn, N. Y.....December 4, 1889
Parsons—Laura Wolcott Collins, Rye, N. Y.....June 26, 1884
Pierce—Carrie de Zeng Morrow, Green Bay, Wis.....April 15, 1891
Platt—Grace Lee Phelps, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.....November 9, 1887
Pollock—Fannie Dawson Greenough, Wilmington, N. C., August 9, 1882
Pratt—Annie Barclay, Washington, D. C.....December 27, 1892
Rice—Helen Eggleston Howd, Pleasant Valley, Conn., September 18, 1883

Richards—Bertha W. Gray, New Haven, Conn.....June 5, 1889
Richardson—Elizabeth Whittaker Decker, Boston, Mass.,
(Died June 24, 1899.) September 16, 1896
Rolfe—Mattie Kerr, Memphis, Tenn.....December 24, 1886
Rossiter—Eleanor Genevieve Brown, New Canaan, Conn.,
August 22, 1883
Rutledge—Emma Craig Blake, Fletcher, N. C.....October 5, 1892
Sanford—Annie Bennet Tomlinson, Shelton, Conn.....July 7, 1898
Scranton—Mary Dumesnil McIlvaine, St. Albans, Vt.,
October 15, 1884
Scudder—Abigail Taylor Seelye, Northampton, Mass.,
September 5, 1895
Shipley—Charlotte H. Goshorn, Cincinnati, Ohio.....June 22, 1887
Shoemaker—Cornelia W. Scranton, Scranton Pa..November 27, 1889
*Sholes—Anna Electa Tucker, Oswego, Kan.....December 25, 1884
Silver, E. V.—Bessie Larsen, Salt Lake City, Utah....April 3, 1901
Silver, L. M.—Roberta Shoemaker, Philadelphia, Pa..October 25, 1894
Smith—Susan C. Chichester, Geneseo, N. Y.....July 2, 1890
Snell—Isabel Cromwell, New Haven, Conn.....October 16, 1900
Snyder—Maria Louise Bradley, New Haven, Conn.....July 9, 1883
Storrs—Gertrude Cleveland, Orange, N. J.....December 15, 1897
Titche—Fanny Kaufman, New Orleans, La.....June 18, 1890
Vought—Natalie Blackmarr Sternberg, Buffalo, N. Y..June 19, 1888
*Weaver—Elizabeth A. White, Philadelphia, Pa..October 20, 1885
Weed—Emma Christy Ramsey, Chicago, Ill.....September 27, 1884
Welch—Ellen Bunce, Hartford, Conn.....October 24, 1889
Welles—Mary Amelia Patton, Washington, D. C.....June 12, 1888
Wells—Eleanore B. Fitch, Freeport, Ill.....November 14, 1884
*Whitney—Sadie Prince Turner, Syracuse, N. Y..November 15, 1883
Wight—Charlotte M. Burgis, Detroit, Mich.....June 1, 1886
Williams, H. L.—Isabella Hall Dewey, Boston, Mass....May 28, 1884

Non-Graduates.

Adams—Elizabeth Ellerslie Wallace, New York.....June 4, 1895
Bishop—Anna Bartram Newbold, Trenton, N. J.....July 9, 1885
Burpee—Bertha Stiles, Bridgeport, Conn.....November 5, 1885
Camp—Mary Cobb Ball, Milwaukee, Wis.....August 5, 1886
Case—Florence N. Case, Trenton, N. J.....April 9, 1890

Griggs—Mary Chaffee Wells, Pittsburg, Pa.....October 15, 1885
Haskell—Blanche Lindamon Jones, Chicago, Ill..December 31, 1885
Havens—Caroline Prindle Sammons.....January 16, 1894
Kinley—Kate R. Neal, Mount Vernon, Ohio.....June 22, 1897
*Phelps—Grace H. Goodell, Hartford, Conn.....December 9, 1885
Sanderson—Alice Bartel Kane, Milwaukee, Wis.....January 5, 1881
(Died January 19, 1882.)
Clarice Follansbee.....September 8, 1887
Seymour—Katherine W. Camp, Newington, Conn..November 17, 1887
Van Kirk—Elizabeth V. Long, Allegheny City, Pa.....June 16, 1887
Graduates—91. Non-Graduates—13.

CHILDREN.

Allen (J. F.)—Parker Breese.....October 31, 1895
Theodore Ferguson.....October 29, 1897
Badger—Walter Irving, Jr.....September 16, 1891
Grace Ansley.....July 13, 1893
Barbour—Eleanor.....February 22, 1889
Bartlett—Ruth Hayward.....October 4, 1884
*Mary Dudley.....December 14, 1887
Loyd Hayward.....1888
*Donald Tanner.....1892
Robert Milne 1892
Bate—Rutledge.....February 2, 1891
Bates—Alice Melissa.....September 12, 1887
Winifred.....July 14, 1889
Beach—Katherine Elizabeth.....April, 1895
Grace Carter.....September, 1896
Elizabeth Morgan.....May, 1898
Bennett—Benjamin Warfield.....December 6, 1886
Waller.....December 13, 1888
Sara McChesney.....March 6, 1890
Susan Anne.....May 15, 1892
Samuel, Jr.....March 10, 1895
William Dudley.....July 9, 1896
Bentley—Margaret.....August 28, 1892
Richard.....June 5, 1894

Billings—Charles Kingsbury, Jr.....November 21, 1885
Margaret Louise.....March 10, 1886
Mabel Frances.....May 3, 1888
Julia Holmes.....January 7, 1890
Mary Elizabeth.....February 7, 1892
John Alden.....October 11, 1898
Boltwood—Ruth Gernon.....April 15, 1894

Brewster—Katrina Mynderse.....May 10, 1894
Benjamin Yates.....December 28, 1897

Brinton—Anna Binney.....January 21, 1896
Caroline Ives.....March 25, 1898
Ferree, Jr.....August 9, 1900

*Brockway—Marian.....May 13, 1896
Dorothy.....February 27, 1898

Bronson—Norton.....February 28, 1894
Richardson.....October 12, 1896

Bruce—Donald.....July 23, 1884

Chenault—Nettie Bronston.....December 12, 1884
Walter Scott.....July 22, 1888

Clement—Norman P.....April 12, 1885
Edith C.....April 22, 1886
Stephen Merrill, Jr.....November 10, 1887
Harold T.....August 19, 1889
Marion.....March 26, 1891
Stewart H.....April 2, 1895

Cragin—Miriam Willard.....September 30, 1890
Alice Gregory.....November 18, 1893

Cumming—Mary Shaler.....December 3, 1891
Joseph Bryan.....August 10, 1893

Eaton—Irene Helen.....August 10, 1887

Ely—David Jay.....June 30, 1888
Alice Anne.....May 4, 1892

Farwell—Albert Day.....May 28, 1888
Marion.....January 13, 1892
Elizabeth Cooley.....June 12, 1895

FitzGerald—Alida Cecilia Winifred.....1895
Edward Galbraith Augustine.....1897

Foster—Harriet Burnside.....February 3, 1895
Elizabeth Hammond.....March 5, 1899
Roger Sherman.....December 13, 1900

French—Jonathan Wales.....April 26, 1891
Constance.....April 13, 1896

Friend—Lillian Frances.....January 15, 1891
Julius Weis.....August 20, 1894

Graves, C. B.—Addison Miner.....July 8, 1894
(Died April 12, 1902.)
Elizabeth Waterman.....November 16, 1898

*Hand—Avery Chapman.....April 27, 1889

Hebard—Morgan.....February 23, 1887

Holland—Barbara.....April 15, 1892
Elizabeth.....April 15, 1892

Kellogg, F. A.—Helen Kilbourne.....March 1, 1902
(Died August 5, 1902.)

Kellogg (J. P.)—Fredrika Mason.....January 23, 1894
Elizabeth Hosmer.....February 23, 1899
Rosemary.....February 16, 1902

Knapp—A son.....April 19, 1891
(Died in infancy.)
Farwell.....November 28, 1893

Lay—George Balch.....May 4, 1895
Elizabeth Atkinson.....April 6, 1897
Ellen Booth.....March 17, 1899

Lovering—Charlotte Elizabeth.....January 14, 1887
James Howe.....September 12, 1890

Lowe—Gwendolen R.

McKnight—Wallace.....May 2, 1890
Ray Weed.....May 11, 1892
(Died August 20, 1892.)
Theodore Weed.....May 30, 1896
(Died August 6, 1896.)

Moodey—Antoinette Paine.....May 15, 1884
Helen Chapin.....October 26, 1886
Gertrude.....September 28, 1888
Harriette.....October 13, 1890

*Murphy—Harold Purves.....July 9, 1890
Helen Benson.....April 9, 1893
Emma Maxwell.....January 12, 1895

O'Hanlon—†Russell Yale.....October 24, 1883
John Nelson.....March 3, 1887
Marguerite H.....August 9, 1890
Marie Maps.....December 6, 1893
Laura.....March 26, 1898

Palmer—William Eagle.....December 6, 1890
Josiah Culbert, Jr.....August 11, 1896

Parsons—Annie Rankin.....August 8, 1885
(Died October 5, 1886.)
William Henry, 3d.....May 29, 1888
John Palmer.....April 16, 1890
Oliver Wolcott.....September 12, 1892
Laura Cecilia.....November 6, 1893
Mary Marselis.....October 8, 1894

Pierce—Richard de Zeng.....April 20, 1892

Platt—Sherman Phelps.....June 2, 1890
Charlotte.....December 6, 1896
Thos. Collier, 2d.....May 3, 1898

Pollock—Margaret.....June 27, 1883

Rice—Welles Kennon.....January 1, 1887
Dorothy Lee.....August 16, 1888

Richards—Philip Hand.

Rolfe—Robert Laurence.....December 6, 1887

Rossiter—Ruth Frances.....March 28, 1886
John Harold.....October 30, 1896

Rutledge—Eleanor Middleton.....March 23, 1894
Emma Blake.....August 23, 1897
Alice Weston.....January 1, 1899
Benjamin Huger, Jr.....January 11, 1902

Sanford—Joseph Hudson.....June 28, 1900
Daniel Sammis, Jr.....April 4, 1902

† Class boy.

Scranton—John Walworth.....July 27, 1885
Marian.....July 4, 1889
Scudder—Evarts Seelye.....September 5, 1896
Hilda.....February 7, 1899
Shipley—Marguerita.....June 13, 1888
Alfreda.....August 27, 1893
*Sholes—Hiram, 2d.....October 3, 1885
William Mather.....June 1, 1888
Silver, E. V.—Charles Alexander.....January 29, 1902
Silver, L. M.—Helen Mann.....September 28, 1895
Margaret Bird.....March 25, 1897
Smith—Eunice Wakelee.....April 13, 1891
Austin Chichester.....April 22, 1893
Harriet Holbrook.....May 17, 1897
Snyder—Elizabeth Glenn.....April 24, 1884
Marian Louise.....June 14, 1886
Henry Rossiter.....December 17, 1888
Justine Pratt.....March 12, 1892
Titche—Bernard, Jr.....January 17, 1895
*Weaver—Rebecca W.....July 28, 1886
Weed—Helen Brooks.....October 26, 1886
Wells—Marguerite F.....September 30, 1885
Welles—Martin Rice.....March 2, 1889
(Died August 5, 1895.)
Carolyn Aiken.....January 22, 1892
Margaret Stanley.....June 9, 1894
May Patton.....November 29, 1897
Roger Patton.....June 1, 1901
*Whitney—Margaret.....April 13, 1886
Wight—Winifred Burgis.....July 18, 1894
(Died June 4, 1898.)
Elliott Leland.....March 8, 1897

Non-Graduates.

Adams—Frank Lanson.....April 25, 1896
Bishop—Newbold.....April 14, 1887
Mildred Remsen.....April 14, 1887
Remsen.....July 11, 1890
Austrios Bartram.....July 11, 1890
Francis.....September 20, 1896

Camp—Carolyn Mary.....January 10, 1889
Marion Merrill.....June 30, 1892

Case—Charles Blackwell, Jr.....March 26, 1892
Arthur Ellicott.....April 11, 1894

Griggs—Calvin Wells.....November 15, 1886
Milton Wright.....November 13, 1888
Mary Wells.....April 22, 1892
Everett Billings.....December 17, 1895
Benjamin Glyde.....January 1, 1898

Haskell—Margaret.....July 6, 1887
Helen Louisa.....July 9, 1891
George Starkweather.....January 31, 1897

Havens—Lucy Prindle.....October 21, 1894
Mary Eleanor.....January 30, 1897

Kinley—Harriet.....October 3, 1898

*Phelps—Dwight G.....June 8, 1887

Of Graduates—Boys, 70. Girls, 86.

Of Non-Graduates—Boys, 13. Girls, 9.

UNMARRIED.

M. S. Allen, Bailey, Blumley, *Campbell, *Curtis, *Cuyler, Darling, Dillingham, Foote, *Fries, Gallagher, Griggs, Jefferds, *Johnson, Kittredge, Lewis, Long, Lyman, Morris, Osborne, Pardee, Parke, Pember, Stillman, Sweetser, Waller, *Wentworth, *E. S. Williams, *Worcester, Wright. Living, 22; deceased, 8.

ADDRESSES.

Prof. Frank Frost Abbott. ..University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.
James Ferguson Allen.....Meriden, Conn.
Martin Smith Allen.....19 Jay st., New York City
Albert Hoffman Atterbury.....315 West 7th st., Plainfield, N. J.
Walter Irving Badger.....126 Brattle st., Cambridge, Mass.
William Elder Bailey.....30 South Front st., Harrisburg, Pa.
Harry Rudolph Baltz.....1813 Pine st., Philadelphia, Pa.
Prof. Erwin Hinckley Barbour,
University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb.
Floyd Julius Bartlett.....Auburn, N. Y.
Mortimer Stratton Bate.....100 Wall st., New York City
Robert Parker Bates.....120 Randolph st., Chicago, Ill.
Morgan Hawley Beach.....344 D st., N. W., Washington, D. C.
John Fred Beede.....Meredith, N. H.
Samuel Bennett.....Frankfort, Ky.
Cyrus Bentley.....35 Borden Block, Chicago, Ill.
Charles Kingsbury Billings....67 Trumbull st., New Haven, Conn.
Charles Edward Blumley.....Norwich, Conn.
George Shepard Boltwood,
601-607 Michigan Trust Co. Bldg., Grand Rapids, Mich.
Rev. Benjamin Brewster.....Colorado Springs, Colo.
Ferree Brinton.....805 Land Title Bldg., Philadelphia, Pa.
Nathaniel Richardson Bronson.....Waterbury, Conn.
Wayland Irving Bruce..... Easthampton, Mass.
David Anderson Chenault,
University School of Kentucky, Louisville, Ky.
William Churchill.....14 Harrison ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Stephen Merrill Clement.....Marine Bank, Buffalo, N. Y.
Edwin Bradford Cragin, M.D.....62 West 50th st., New York City

ADDRESSES

BRYAN CUMMING.....Augusta, Ga.
FREDERICK ORREN DARLING.....Center Moriches, N. Y.
EDWIN LYNDE DILLINGHAM.....153-157 5th ave., New York City.
FRANKLIN MAYNARD EATON, M.D.....Box 630, Providence, R. I.
JAMES RICHARD ELY.....15 Wall st., New York City
WILLIAM PHELPS ENO.....Saugatuck, Conn.
FRANCIS COOLEY FARWELL..Care of J. V. Farwell & Co., Chicago, Ill.
AUGUSTINE FITZGERALD.....11 Avenue Hoche, Paris, France
CARLTON ALEXANDER FOOTE.....41 West 12th st., New York City
WILBUR HARVEY NASH FORD.....3351 Calumet ave., Chicago
BURNSIDE FOSTER, M.D.....Lowry Bldg., St. Paul, Minn.
ASA PALMER FRENCH.....87 Milk st., Boston, Mass.
JOSEPH EMANUEL FRIEND.....817 Gravier st., New Orleans, La.
FRANK RUNYON GALLAHER.....Essex, Conn.
HENRY WASHBURN GARDES.....Hollister, Tex.
CHARLES BURR GRAVES, M.D.....New London, Conn.
GEORGE HEBER GRAVES.....Fairfield Chemical Co., Bridgeport, Conn.
HERBERT STANTON GRIGGS.....Fidelity Bldg., Tacoma, Wash.
CHARLES BURNELL HAWKES.....51 Chambers st., New York City
CHARLES SAMUEL HEBARD.....Pequaming, Baraga Co., Mich.
THEODORE HOLLAND .....1319 William st., Denver, Colo.
SAMUEL CORNELL HOPKINS.....Catskill, N. Y.
HENRY CLARKE JEFFERDS, M.D.....603 Dekum Bldg., Portland, Ore.
FRANK ALBERT KELLOGG.....280 58th st., Brooklyn, N. Y.
JOHN PRESCOTT KELLOGG.....Waterbury, Conn.
JAMES HENRY KINGMAN, M.D.....Pawtucket, R. I.
Hon. ALFRED BEARD KITTREDGE.....Sioux Falls, S. Dak.
HOWARD HOYT KNAPP.....1094 Main st., Bridgeport, Conn.
Rev. GEORGE WILLIAM LAY.....St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.
CHARLES HENRY LEWIS, M.D.....51 West 58th st., New York City
CHARLES JONAS LONG.....60 West Market st., Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
SEYMOUR CRANE LOOMIS.....81 Church st., New Haven, Conn.
MARTIN LOVERING.....Tuckahoe, N. Y.
FRED MESSENGER LOWE, M.D.,
1354 Washington st., West Newton, Mass.

ADDRESSES

Chester Wolcott Lyman.....30 Broad st., New York City
Wilbur McBride.....16 Exchange pl., New York City
Rev. Harry Chapman McKnight.....East Longmeadow, Mass.
Daniel Walton Macmillan.....137 East 4th st., Cincinnati, Ohio
Herbert Lyman Moodey.....150 Nassau st., New York City
Rev. Charles Newton Morris.....West Hartford, Conn.
John Russell O'Hanlon.....Pennington, N. J.
Arthur Sherwood Osborne.....Box 164, New Haven, Conn.
Frank Edward Page.....Ashland Block, Chicago, Ill.
Josiah Culbert Palmer.....27 William st., New York City
William Scranton Pardee.....581 George st., New Haven, Conn.
Samuel Maxwell Parke.....Pittston, Pa.
William Henry Parsons, Jr.....257 Broadway, New York City
Chauncey Howard Pember.....292 Asylum st., Hartford, Conn.
Richard Henry Pierce.....Manhattan Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
Henry Barstow Platt.....49 Broadway, New York City
William Pollock.....182 Madison ave., New York City
Prof. Julius Howard Pratt, Jr.,
Milwaukee Academy, Milwaukee, Wis.
James Quackenbush Rice.....220 Broadway, New York City
Charles Edward Richards....331 Douglas Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.
George Parker Richardson....Atlas National Bank, Boston, Mass.
Robert Mayo Rolfe.....Trinidad, Colo.
John Rossiter.....77 Union st., Norwich, Conn
Benjamin Huger Rutledge.....Charleston, S. C.
Daniel Sammis Sanford.....Brookline, Mass.
Arthur Scranton.....Lackawanna Steel Co., Buffalo, N. Y.
Charles Locke Scudder, M.D.....189 Beacon st., Boston, Mass.
Caleb Wright Shipley.....Risor ave., Clifton, Cincinnati, Ohio
Levi Ives Shoemaker, M.D..31 South Franklin st., Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
Edward Vernon Silver, M.D.....Salt Lake City, Utah
Lewis Mann Silver, M.D.....103 West 72d st., New York City
Clarence Austin Smith, M.D.,
120 Washington Bldg., Seattle, Wash.

ADDRESSES

FRANK HIRAM SNELL.....881 State st., New Haven, Conn.
Rev. HENRY SPEKE SNYDER.....Gilbertville, Mass.
CHARLES STILLMAN.....22 William st., New York City
Hon. CHARLES BIGELOW STORRS.....333 Lincoln ave., Orange, N. J.
HOWARD PECK SWEETSER.....376 Broadway, New York City
BERNARD TITCHE.....Hennen Bldg., New Orleans, La.
WILLIAM GRANDIN VOUGHT.....48 Linwood ave., Buffalo, N. Y.
TRACY WALLER.....New London, Conn.
EDWARD ODELL WEED.....Gardena, Cal.
ARCHIBALD ASHLEY WELCH.....21 Woodland st., Hartford, Conn.
MARTIN WELLES.....146 Broadway, New York City
JOHN LEWIS WELLS.....32 Nassau st., New York City
Rev. CHARLES ALBERT WIGHT.....Platteville, Wis.
HARRY LUCIEN WILLIAMS.....Northampton, Mass.
ARTHUR BETHUEL WRIGHT.....The Rookery, Chicago, Ill.

ADDRESSES OF NON-GRADUATES.

JOHN LANSON ADAMS, M.D.....24 East 46th st., New York City
JOHN REMSEN BISHOP.....Huntington pl., Cincinnati, Ohio
CHARLES WINSLOW BURPEE.....Hartford, Conn.
ROBERT CAMP.....684 Franklin pl., Milwaukee, Wis.
CHARLES BLACKWELL CASE,
Cor. State and Warren sts., Trenton, N. J.
ROBERT BROWNING COREY.....26 Cortlandt st., New York City
CHARLES GIBBONS DOUW.....Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
CHAUNCEY MILTON GRIGGS....Griggs Cooper & Co., St. Paul, Minn.
GEORGE EDWARD HASKELL.....Wamsutta Club, New Bedford, Mass.
JAMES SMITH HAVENS,
12 Rochester Savings Bank Bldg., Rochester, N. Y.
Prof. DAVID KINLEY.....Urbana, Ill
TUN YEN LIANG,
Care China Merchants' Steam Navigation Co., Hankow, China
GEORGE BROOKE MILLER.....Sandy Spring, Md.
EDWARD PASCAL PRATT.....New York Life Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.
HENRY BYRON SANDERSON.....Phœnix Mills, Milwaukee, Wis.
WILLIAM SEYMOUR,
Cruttenden & Co., 341 to 345 Wabash ave., Chicago, Ill.
WILL LOUJEAY VAN KIRK.....Pittsburgh, Pa

THE LIBRARY OF THE
JUN 18 1930
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS-URBANA
3 0112 111857790